EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY, 5, 1898.

TWO CENTS

HANNA'S POOR CHANCE.

Two Kurtz Men Changed, but One Flopped Back.

SOME SHOW OF A DEADLOCK.

There is Also Talk Among Some of the Democrats of John R. McLean or Some Other Silver Democrat Having a Chance—The Situation.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—The political future of Senator Hanna is certainly in a closely poised balance. While there are now reported to be only nine dissenters among the 80 Republican members, one in the senate and eight in the house, yet the really doubtful list is limited to two or three. Some of the dissenting Republicans are not likely ever to be reconciled to Senator Hanna. They have burned the bridges behind them and openly admit it.

Representative Griffith of Union and Joyce of Guernsey, who voted with "the combine" on the organization of the house, stated that they would vote for Senator Hanna.

This gave Hanna 54 votes in the house and 17 in the senate, a total of 71, or two short of the necessary majority. Droste of Hamilton, who voted for Boxwell for speaker, announced at the time that he would support Jephtha Gerrard, a Silver Republican, for senator, so that the net gain for Hanna over the vote on the organization was only one. The Hanna men say they expect to get the votes of Scott of Fulton and Rutan of Carroll, who are instructed for Hanna and voted with "the combine" on the organization. On the other hand, "the combine" managers say that Scott and Rutan will remain with them to a finish, and that they expect to get Snider of Greene and Redkey of Highland, who voted for Boxwell for speaker.

Later the Hanna managers lost the two doubtful members that they had gained, so that there is now no material change from that of Monday, when the house stood 56 to 53 against Hanna. This would give the senator only 70 votes on joint ballot, or three less than enough to elect. In connection with the change of Representative Griffith back to the anti-Hanna camp, there are most scandalously sensational reports in circulation. Mr. Griffith has been on both sides several times, and has so pledged himself in writing. In these dispatches yesterday was an account of the Hanna workers spending Sunday night with Representative Griffith and of him sending at 3 a. m. for his wife to come from the Great Southern hotel to the Neil House, to join him in a conference with the Hanna men.

At 5 a. m. the Kurtz men saw Mrs. Griffith and the almighty work of the Hanna men was undone just before her husband went to the statehouse on Monday morning, to qualify as speaker pro tem., with the other candidates of "the combine." After the legislature was organized, Mr. Griffith had another night of conferences on both sides of the senatorial case, and Tuesday morning he gave the Hanna men a written pledge over his own name that he would vote for the senator. Later in the day he was seen by the opponents of Senator Hanna and he gave out the following as his latest proclamation on his position:

"To the Public—It is due to the public and to myself that I make a statement of my position the senatorial matter.

"While it is true that the convention which nominated me passed a resolution requesting me to support Senator Hanna, and while I, at various times during the campaign and since, declared my intention to follow that request, and even promised a dozen or more of my constituents, in Mr. Hanna's headquarters, on Monday of this week, that I would do so, I have, however, since learning the particulars of the indignities heaped upon my wife Monday morning, reached the conviction that I would be untrue to my manhood should I cast my vote for a man who either uses or employs such methods, and shall resent the indignities and the heaped upon myself and friends and also do a service for my state and country by voting for a Republican other than Mr. Hanna for United States senator.

"Notwithstanding the threats that have been made to me that I cannot return and live in Union county if I do not vote for Mr. Hanna, it is my hope and belief that the good people, who have honored me with their confidence and whom I love and honor, will uphold me in this determination that cannot under any circumstances now be changed.

"J. E. GRIFFITH."

When a copy of the statement purporting to come from Representative Griffith was shown to Senator Hanna, he said:

"I do not believe Mr. Griffith ever made this statement, because it is not true. It is represented to me that he is an honorable man, and therefore, I shall not believe, without some further evidence, that he ever made or authorized any such statement."

Notwithstanding Senator Hanna regards it as untrue that Representative Griffith himself publishes this statement, yet it is known that the document is in Griffith's handwriting, whether he prepared it himself or not. The last letter of Griffith has caused not only a sensation, but the most bitter feeling and the worst of charges on the part of rival workers.

Congressman Grosvenor left for Washington last night and the anti-Hanna men say he has gone there to confer as to the legatee, which the opposition report as likely to be Secretary Sherman.

General Grosvenor stated that he had to be in congress on Thursday to take part in the debate, and that he was leaving for that purpose and would be back the last of the week.

J. Park Alexander of Akron, trustee of the Ohio Imbecile Asylum, has resigned because of Governor Bushnell's course on the senatorship. The four Republican clubs of Columbus resolved not to participate in the inauguration of Governor Bushnell next Monday.

The doubtful members are being offered their choice of chairmanships and given the opportunity to make all other selections they want. The power of the organization of the house is certainly being used to the greatest possible advantage and its influence is not to be underestimated in connection with the support of the state administration. While Mr. Kurtz and his associates will make no statements, yet they are holding back the appointments on the committees and other patronage in anticipation of gaining several votes on the senatorial ballot.

In holding their men in line "the combine" is having trouble with some of the 65 Democratic members. It is believed that Mayor McKisson will give way to Mr. Kurtz for the short term for senator, while Governor Bushnell has all along been regarded as the candidate for the long term. Representative Wiley of Wayne, Powell of Morrow, Niles of Lucas and other radical free silver Democrats are not satisfied with Kurtz and Bushnell, and if they are to vote for Republicans they want them with pronounced silver records like that of Gerrard and others that are named. Some of the Democratic members insist that the breach is so wide and so deep now between the Republicans that John R. McLean or some other free silver Democrat could be elected over Hanna.

Letters and telegrams have poured in on Governor Bushnell, the dissenting Republican members and others, protesting against the action of the Republicans who were in co-operation with the Democrats. In reply those about the headquarters in the Great Southern hotel revived the talk of the American Protective association, the workmen and others being opposed to Senator Hanna. It was charged that the senator had Mrs. Griffith annoyed by his emissaries, and that the senator was with her two hours before her husband announced himself as for Hanna.

The announcement by the Republicans that they would have no joint senatorial caucus tonight or at any time previous to the balloting for senator, will compel all to continue in this guerrilla warfare for another week, but with the result depending on the action of two or three doubtful members, neither side could show its hand without exposing the recruits or the deserters to terrific fires for at least a week. It was expected by the public that there would be decisive results at the caucuses tonight, but there will be no caucuses and the steering committees will try to have all members located before balloting begins.

The senate and the house will ballot separately next Tuesday for senator.

But if Senator Hanna has not a majority a week hence, it is doubtful whether any opponent will have it, and the general prediction is for a deadlock. In the event that the balloting next Tuesday doesn't show a majority for anyone, the general assembly will proceed on the next day to ballot in joint assembly and continue to do so till there is an election. The balloting a week hence may not do any more than to compel the contestants to show their names on rollcall, and after that the same fight may be continued for an indefinite period.

"The combine" is charging that Senator Hanna is in such desperate straits as to be forced "to swap horses" while crossing the stream, owing to the Republicans deciding to hold no caucus. They also charge that he has been an ex senator since the legislature met Monday. As Senator Hanna was appointed when Secretary Sherman went into the cabinet, article 2, section 2, of the statutes is being quoted as follows:

While this talk about Ohio now having only one senator proceeds the Hanna men explain that they want the same action now as was accorded Senator Foraker two years ago. Foraker had been endorsed at the Zanesville state convention in 1894 for senator, and was elected without any caucus or any Republican opposition in the legislature. The Hanna men say they ask that the same "courtesy and loyalty" now prevail. The plank in the Republican state platform, adopted at Toledo last June, is being freely cited. It is as follows:

"The thanks of the people of this state are due to Senators Foraker and Hanna for their splendid efforts during the present session of congress, and we congratulate the people on their representation in the United States senate. Desiring to continue such representation and appreciating his service to the party and to the people of the state and nation and his eminent and proven fitness for the position, we endorse the candidacy of Hon. Marcus A. Hanna for United States senator to succeed himself and pledge the support of the party in the next general assembly to

The sensation of the day was the arrival of the Springfield delegation of 300 Republicans to interview Governor Bushnell and protest against his actions. A huge banner bore the inscription, "Clarke county solid for Marcus A. Hanna," and the bearer was greeted with cheers on the way. In front of the Neil House, an informal ovation greeted the delegation, and so interested were the members that they passed the main entrance to the capitol grounds.

Governor Bushnell was in his rear room of the governor's office. Congressman Weaver headed the delegation as it filed in and acted as spokesman. With the 300 persons in a circle, a Governor Bushnell occupying a position in the center, standing with his hand resting upon the table.

Congressman Weaver, the spokesman of the visiting delegation from Springfield, in addressing Governor Bushnell said:

"I had the honor to present your name at the Toledo convention and am proud of it. Circumstances have arisen which have changed the current of affairs. Certain persons who claim to be Republicans are endeavoring to thwart Mr. Hanna's candidacy, but we cannot believe that you are one of these, that you are unloyal. For you to do this would be a political blunder, if not a political crime.

Following this Congressman Weaver's remarks were in the nature of an appeal to the governor to not permit the Republican party to go down to defeat by the election of any other man for senator except Marcus A. Hanna.

Governor Bushnell was almost overcome by emotion in his response. He referred to the fact that the representatives and senators from Clarke county are strong adherents of Hanna, while but three-fourths of the Cuyahoga delegation are for him. He said he had been misunderstood and misrepresented in the present controversy, and charged that it was not true that he had attended a Democratic conference to defeat Hanna. [Cheers.] He said he did not know that such a conference had been held. He expressed the belief that the members of the house and senate should settle the question of a senator, and that all others should remain out of the fight.

"But this," he said, "cannot be, as it is a free country, and as long as people behave themselves they have a right to be there. But all people have their preferences and prejudices. Until today my Republicanism has never been questioned." Hisses and groans, mingled with cheers, greeted this statement and Governor Bushnell raised his hand to quiet the assemblage.

"Have you taken any action for a candidate, governor?" inquired one of the delegation.

"I have no vote in the legislature," he said.

Continuing, Governor Bushnell said: "I discharged my duty last spring, when I appointed Mr. Hanna United States senator. Now the members of the legislature must discharge theirs."

From the governor's office, the delegation marched to Senator Hanna's headquarters, in the Neil House, where the members greeted the senator. Addresses were made by General Grosvenor, Senator Hanna, Major Dick, Judge Nash and others.

Senator Hanna spoke at length, reviewing the action of the Toledo convention, the work of the last campaign and the action of the past two days, but expressed the fullest confidence in the final result.

The Springfield delegation gave parades, serenaded the newspaper offices and even the headquarters of Kurtz and "the combine," at the Great Southern hotel, and then returned home.

During the session of the legislature more bills were introduced to embarrass Senator Hanna, as on the opening day.

Senator Burke of Cleveland was present and voted with the Democrats. Judge Dellenbaugh of Cleveland declares Burke will vote for Hanna.

Married an Indian Prince.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Lady Ann Coventry, third daughter of the Earl of Coventry, has been married, at St. Peter's church, Eaton square, to Prince Lbuleep Singh, son of the late Maharajah of Lahore. The courtship of the prince and Lady Ann has been marked by considerable opposition upon the part of the lady's family, which was mainly overcome by the intervention of the Prince of Wales.

Sanguilly Sails For Mexico.

HAVANA, Jan. 5.—The Ward line steamer Saratoga, with General Julio Sanguilly on board, has sailed for Tampico, Mexico. He was closely watched while the steamer was in port. Much surprise is expressed in Spanish circles at the presence in this harbor of the former insurgent leader.

Detected and Sentenced to Hang.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Edward Clifford, a former West Shore railroad detective, has been sentenced in Jersey City to be hanged Feb. 16 next, for the murder of William Watson, a division superintendent of the West Shore road, on March 5, 1895, at Weehawken.

Man and Wife Murdered.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Jan. 5.—George Baker and wife, who live about three miles west of here, have been murdered. There is no clue.

TRAIN ROBBED IN CITY.

Gulf Road Express Raided in Kansas City.

THE EXPRESS MESSENGER BOUND.

Two Men Entered the Car and Overpowered Him—Looted the Local Safe and Escaped, All Within the Limits of the City.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 5.—The Port Arthur express on the Pittsburg, Kansas City and Gulf railroad has been robbed before it passed the city limits.

Two men, whom no one but Express Messenger Hyde seems to have seen, climbed into the express car as the train left the depot. They overpowered the messenger, bound and gagged him and rifled the car before the train came to a stop.

When the train slowed up at a railroad crossing known as Airline junction, near the northeastern limits of the city, they climbed out of the car and disappeared. Nothing was known of the robbery until a negro train porter entered the car and found the helpless express messenger.

They robbed the local safe and secured $200 or $300. The thorough safe was not touched.

This is the sixth crime of the kind in Kansas City within 15 months.

BRYAN HOME FROM MEXICO.

Friends Gave Him a Reception and Banquet at Lincoln.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 5.—William J. Bryan's homecoming from his Mexican trip last evening was the occasion of a more marked display of enthusiasm on the part of his political and social friends than has been shown since his return from Chicago, following his nomination for the presidency. It being the night of the complimentary banquet tendered him by the Bryan Traveling Men's club, a number of distinguished men, who participated in that function, were on hand at the station to meet him. To a correspondent, Mr. Bryan said he was not yet ready to express his impressions of Mexico.

It was nearly 10 o'clock when the banquet hall of the Lincoln hotel was thrown open. For an hour previous a reception was tendered to notable guests from abroad—Hon. George Fred Williams of Boston, Hon. David Overmyer and Hon. J. H. Atwood of Kansas. Covers were laid for 200 guests, and over an hour was spent in a discussion of the menu. The principal address of the evening was by Mr. Overmyer on the subject "The National Democrats." Among other speakers were George W. Ferge, Lincoln, Neb.; Governor Holcomb, Nebraska; G. M. Hitchcock, Omaha; Hon. W. H. Thompson, Grand Island; John H. Atwood, Kansas. Mr. Bryan responded to the toast "Our Guest."

PROMINENT MEN SUED.

A Massachusetts Man Claims a Big Gas Deal Was Crooked.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Suit has been filed against the Boston, South Boston, Roxbury and Bay State of Massachusetts Gas companies, the Bay State Gas company of Delaware, the Bay State Gas company of New Jersey, Albert C. Burrage of Boston, Henry H. Rogers and John G. Moore of New York, the New England Gas and Coke company, R. C. Fryen, Stephen Peabody, Henry J. Dimock, George C. Haven, A. N. Brady, Emerson McMillin, A. H. Paget of New York, William F. Elkins and William F. Elkins, Jr., of Philadelphia, William Flinn of Pittsburg, Henry M. Whitney, Richard Olney and Robert W. Lord of Boston.

The suit was entered by James E. Manning of Lynn. The bill, which is of great length, contains apparently a complete history of gas transactions since Nov. 1, 1896, most of which are referred to as being made by unauthorized officials and therefore illegal or fraudulent, especially the recent sale of the Brookline and Dorchester Gas companies to the New England Gas and Coke com. any.

NEW CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

One Will Be Reported to House Committee Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The special committee appointed by the recent conference of the members of the house of representatives opposed to existing civil service reform has agreed on a measure and will report it to the conference some time today. It makes a number of changes in the offices now in the classified service, and limits, in specific terms, the powers and duties of the civil service commission.

MARTINELLI LEAVES ST. PAUL.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 5.—Mgr. Martinelli has left for Washington after spending about two weeks in St. Paul as the guest of Archbishop Ireland.

Forming a New Cabinet.

YOKOHAMA, Jan. 5.—The Marquis Ito is forming a new cabinet.

BUTTERWORTH DYING.

The Commissioner of Patents Very Low at Thomasville, Ga.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A special from Thomasville, Ga., says: The condition of Patent Commissioner Butterworth has grown steadily worse since his attack Monday, and he is lying in his room at the Piney Woods hotel at the point of death. Physicians

BENJAMIN BUTTERWORTH.

of this place and from New York are attending him, and all agree that he cannot live more than 36 hours, while his death is momentarily expected.

MAN WITH MANY WIVES.

Convicted of Bigamy, After Appearing in Dime Museums.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—David E. Bates, accused of having six wives more than the law allows, and who as a result of his arrest several months ago has had steady employment at the dime museums, has been convicted of bigamy, the first of the numerous cases against him. He was given a fine of $1,000 and an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary.

Upon the announcement of the verdict the examination of veniremen for a jury to hear the second charge against the prisoner was begun immediately. It is so proposed to press a charge of perjury against Bates based on admissions made by him on the witness stand. Three of the wives were present in court.

THE NEGRO WON OUT.

Kentucky Democratic Legislators Decide to Give them a Place.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 5.—The convening and organization of the two legislative houses were without incident of note. A failure to complete the organization of the lower branch precluded even the beginning of business. The governor also failed to transmit his message, which later came out in the afternoon paper.

The fight among the Democratic majority was over the determination of a majority to limit the candidates for one of the minor places to negro Democrats.

Some of the members fought this measure to a finish, but the negro won and was given the place.

The President Not Likely Now to Name Pax on.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—While no information of an official character is to be obtained at the white house regarding the successor to Colonel W. R. Morrison on the interstate commerce commission, the belief is general that the president has not yet decided whom he will appoint.

It was supposed for a time that Judge Paxson of Pennsylvania had been definitely determined upon, but the indications now are that the president will appoint a western man, probably a man from Illinois, if those interested can reach an agreement. It is reasonably certain now that no decision will be reached as to Colonel Morrison's successor for several days.

THE LONDON (N.Y.) HORROR.

Twenty-five Were Killed and 35 Injured. Building Was Unsafe.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 5.—The coroner's inquest into the City hall horror, when 25 persons were killed and 35 injured by the collapse of a floor during a political mass meeting, was begun, one of the bodies being viewed by the jury as a legal prerequisite to the inquiry, and the adjournment was made.

The whole point of the inquest will turn on the liability of the city to relatives and friends of the deceased. A number of local architects will testify that the building was unsafe and should have been condemned. This will be the basis of the claims that will be made against the city.

A CHINESE LOAN.

Rumored That Negotiations Have Been Completed in England.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—There is good reason to believe the British government is reconsidering the question of assisting China to raise a loan. The Chinese proposals on the subject are urgently supported by the business men here who are interested in China.

The Evening News says it is reported in the city that the negotiations for a Chinese loan of £16,000,000 guaranteed by the British government are practically concluded.

HIT HIM ON THE HEAD

A Roustabout Says He Was Assaulted.

IT HAPPENED AT THE WHARF

When the Queen City Was Tied In Last
Night—The Man Claims That Mate
Sweeney Struck Him With a Club as
He Passed.

William Scott, a colored roustabout,
employed on the steamer, Queen City,
was hit on the head about 10 o'clock,
last night, while the boat was tied in at the wharf. Scott alleges that Mate John
Sweeney was the offender.

The boat arrived at this port shortly after 12 o'clock, and as the ice in
the river broke a rudder, the boat did not leave the wharf until 3 o'clock this morning. During this time necessary repairs were made. Scott was walking forward to warm his hands, and when passing Sweeney the blow was struck.
Several companions of Scott saw the
action, it is said, but when questioned
as to the truthfulness of Scott's statement they refused to talk. Scott was bleeding terribly, and went up town to find an officer, but had failed to find one

Scott boarded the boat at Gallipolis
and was making his first trip on the Queen City. He was seen by a reporter
this morning and said the action was uncalled for as no words had passed between them. When the boat passes down this evening Scott will see the mate, and from what could be learned this morning some trouble will no doubt occur.

Red Men In Office.

Iroquois Tribe, Improved Order of Red Men have elected the following officers:

Brown; senior sagamore, John Cook;
junior sagamore, Elijah Eardley; chief
of record, Charles Reark; collector of wampum, Sylvester Kinsey; keeper of wampum, John Mase; guard of forest,
William Gibbs; guard of wigwam,
Charles Allison; trustees, C. J. Martin;
delegate to great council, Charles Reark;
alternate, C. J. Martin. Installation
will take place tomorrow evening.

Henry Houser Dead.

Henry Houser, age 44 years, died at his home at Fourth and Jackson streets
at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Congestion
of the lungs was the cause of his death.

Deceased was a widower, his wife
having died seven years ago. Two children, John, aged 18, and Paul, aged 15 years, survive him. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his mother, 291 Fourth street.
Rev. O. S. Reed officiating. Interment
will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

To Begin In February.

Work upon the proposed improvements at Columbia park will, it is said,
be commenced some time during February.

Since the visit of J. K. Dillon, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania company, to the city the promoters have been more active than before, and it is said several well known business men
have become interested in the scheme
and it is their intention to push the matter.

May Provide Power.

The officers of the light company are considering the advisability of running the plant during the day and providing
all who desire it with power.

A canvass will be made in the near future, and if a sufficient number of customers can be found the plan will likely be adopted.

A Beautiful Fixture.

A beautiful fixture is that in the First National bank, and it was designed in detail, including the oxidized copper
grill work, by our home architect, A. W.
Scott, Foutt's building, as well as the general remodeling of the banking quarters. He invites public inspection. *

They Were Busy.

The report of the amount of baggage
sent out and received at the union station, in Pittsburg, for the month of December is completed, and gives the Cleveland and Pittsburg road as the fourth highest record. Over 40,000 pieces of baggage were handled.

Issued a Writ.

Squire Manley yesterday afternoon
issued a writ in aid of execution on the Pennsylvania railroad company in the case of B. D. Woods, versus Rufus Putnam, of East End. Putnam is a carpenter in the shops and Woods claims
he owes him $50.

A NATURAL WONDER.

The Tramp Red Sandstone Boulder of
the New Jersey Mountains.

Countless thousands of years ago vast stretchers of glacial deposits came sliding across the state of New Jersey, mounted the Palisades, pushed their way across the Hudson river, scoured over Manhattan Island and slid out into the Atlantic ocean, whither they disintegrated and sank into the deep or perhaps glided on to the other shore.

But in their onward march these
their grinding stride, and today all along the palisades the trap rocks and boulders are worn smooth where the mountains of ice and sand passed over
them. In some rocks are deep scratches, all pointing eastward and showing
which way the glacial deposits drifted.
There is the evidence, mute, but indisputable.

To the careful observer there are numberless other evidences of the presence of glacial influences in the past,
but none is more convincing than the tramp boulder that has finally settled down in the woods in the heart of Englewood borough. There it sits, a towering mass of rock weighing perhaps 200 tons and resting upon three points which in themselves find a purchase on
a flat rock that is part of and common
to the character of rock which composes
the palisades. But, strangely enough
and to the wonderment of geologists,
the tramp boulder is red sandstone from
the Jersey hills 25 miles inland, and
the pedestal is metamorphite or soft granite.

Around this marvelous monument
have grown trees that may perhaps be
a century old, and they have completely hedged it in, while the rock itself has stood where it stands today for thousands of years. On the pedestal or that part of it which is protected from the action of the elements can be seen the deep ridges and scars made across its flat surface by the great grinding pressure of the body of ice and sand that passed over it countless years ago when
New York was ice and snow clad and the world was a desolate waste in a state of chaos.

This tramp boulder has caused geologists much wonderment and is regarded today as one of the finest specimens ever left in the wake of a glacier. It is equally astounding as though an explorer should find the hull of a steamboat in the Sahara desert. The only way it could get there would be through some great convulsion that had landed it from the

BIRDS' EGGS.

The Reasons Why They Are Not All of
One Shape.

Why is there not a fixed form for all eggs? We can see no reason in the anatomy of the bird, but we may often find reasons for the shape of any particular
egg in its later history.

It is noticeable, for instance, that the
more spherical eggs, as those of owls,
trogons and the like, are usually laid
in holes in the earth, rocks or trees,
where they cannot fall out of the nest,
and that the eggs of the ordinary song
bird, which makes a well constructed nest, are oval, while the slim, straight sided, conoidal eggs, tapering sharply
to a point, belong to birds that construct little or no nest—to the shore birds,
terns, guillemots and the like. Why?
Because these last drop them in small clutches and with little or no preparation upon sand or rock, where, were they spherical, they could only with difficulty be kept closer beneath the sitting bird, but conical objects will tend always to roll toward a center. An additional advantage is that eggs of the latter shape will take up less space—
form a snuggler package to be warmed.
In the case of guillemots the single egg
laid is especially flat sided and tapering,
and the species owes its perpetuation
largely to this circumstance, since,
were it not for the egg's toplike tendency to revolve about its own apex, the chances are that it would be pushed off
the ledge of naked sea cliff where the careless or stupid bird leaves it.

This suggests a word in reference to
the popular fable that sitting birds carefully turn their eggs every day or oftener in order to warm them equally. No
such thing is done, because unnecessary,
since, as we have seen, the germinal
part always rises to the top and places
itself nearest the influential warmth of the mother's body.—Ernest Ingersoll,
Harper's Magazine.

His Reason.

"Why is it," they asked him, "that
you prefer gas to electric light?"

"In the case of electric light," he said, looking at them in astonishment,
"it can usually be controlled by means
of a button or a spring on the wall within easy reach."

They admitted that he spoke truly.
"That being so," he went on, "if you had ever stood over a small but pretty young woman who with upturned and anxious face was striving to reach the chandelier to light the gas
you never would have to ask me the

IN SALEM THIS YEAR

Will the Bar Association Be Entertained.

ONE WEEK FROM TOMORROW

Is the Date Assigned For the Annual Banquet—Invitations Have Not Yet Been Issued—This City Will Be Well Represented.

It is announced today that the Columbia County Bar association will this year be entertained by the attorneys of Salem. The date set for the banquet is January 13. Invitations have not yet been issued, but it is believed by local attorneys that they will be received here within a few days.

Since the custom was inaugurated two years ago in this city, when a gathering of representative attorneys observed the occasion at the Thompson house. Lisbon has entertained the bar, and Salem will not permit itself to be outdone. It is understood that the affair will be elaborate, and a large attendance is expected.

This city will be well represented, a number of attorneys having arranged to attend.

MRS. LEE'S FUNERAL.

Hundreds of Friends Attended the Services Last Night.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Helen Maple Lee were conducted at the residence in West Market street last evening. The house was filled with sorrowing friends, and many who were unable to gain admission stood on the veranda and in the street.

Almost hidden by roses and lilies, the body lay on a couch in the room where were assembled the members of the family and officers of the First Presbyterian church and other near friends.

The services were opened by the singing of "Nearer Home" by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Macrum, Miss Florence Everson and J. W. Stoddard, W. L. Thompson being the accompanist. Reverend George offered a fervent prayer, and then spoke in touching terms of comfort to the family. The quartet rendered "Asleep In Jesus," and Doctor Taggart spoke eloquently. He touched upon the need of human sympathy, and recalled those many virtues that had made the deceased dear to her friends. The gentleman closed with prayer. After the singing of "Lead Kindly Light" Reverend George pronounced the benediction, and the large assemblage of people were permitted to take leave of Mrs. Lee.

The remains were this morning taken to Pittsburg where they will be at the home of Mrs. Lee's parents in the East End until tomorrow when the interment will be made in Allegheny cemetery at 2 o'clock. A number of people from this city will attend.

Windsor Packing Plant Sold.

Charles L. Taylor, of Wheeling, was in the city on business today. Mr. Taylor last spring was talking to several people in this city in reference to moving the Windsor Packing company from Wheeling to this place, but after waiting on the people here for some time the deal was declared off. Mr. Taylor was seen by a reporter this morning, and said that the plant was sold yesterday to Wheeling parties. The price paid could not be learned.

Collecting Reports.

Sanitary Officer Burgess is busy today collecting the monthly reports of physicians.

The birth rate will be small, while the death rate will be larger than usual. The deaths during the month were principally among aged people who were suffering with chronic diseases.

Satisfied the Law.

George Miller, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county to serve 18 months for burglary, was released yesterday, his sentence having expired.

Ill In Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Norris, of East Liverpool, is ill with catarrhal fever at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Boswell, of this place.—Toronto Tribune.

Moved to Baltimore.

Deverne Coburn and wife, of Sixth street, have sold their effects and moved to Baltimore, where they will make their future home.

Potteries Resume.

The Murphy pottery will resume operations in full tomorrow.

The Goodwin plant resumed work yesterday.

MADEMOISELLE THERMOMETER.

I know of a restless young lass,
Who lives in a house made of glass,
And from her location
Marks each vibration
Of hot and cold waves as they pass.

When heat is announced, she will spring
To quickly make note of the thing.
'Tis very surprising
That simply by rising
So true a report she can bring.

To self elevation inclined
She has such a volatile mind
That in every season
A suitable reason
For frequent depression she'll find.

Her temper mercurial thus Creates everywhere such a fuss
That in conversation
Affairs of the nation
Are slighted, this maid to discuss.

A MORNING GLORY CULT.

This Flower Taking the Place of Chrysanthemums In Japan.

Miss Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore has an article on "The Wonderful Morning Glories of Japan" in The Century. Miss Scidmore says:

As a floral sensation the chrysanthemum may be said to have had its day, the carnation is going, going, and seekers after novelty among flower fanciers are sighing for a new flower to conquer. It is hardly known, even to foreign residents in Japan, that that land, which has given us so much of art and beauty, has lately revived the culture of its most remarkable flower, the asagao, our morning glory. For size, beauty, range of color and illimitable variety there attained this sunrise flower precedes all others until its cultivation has become a craze, which is likely to spread to other countries, and—who knows—perhaps there introduce the current Japanese custom of 5 o'clock in the morning teas and garden parties.

Asagao, the morning flower, is more especially Japan's own blossom than the chrysanthemum, which, like it, came from China as a primitive sort of weed, afterward to be evolved by Japanese art or magic into a floral wonder of a hundred varying forms.

We who know and grow the morning glory as a humble back yard vine on a string—a vine with leaves like those of the sweet potato and puny little pink or purple flowers—are as far in the floral darkness as the Chinese, who know it chiefly as a wild thing of fields and hedge rows, the vine of "the little trumpets" or the "dawn flower," that is entangled with briars and bushes for miles along the top of Peking's walls. The old poetry and the old art do not seem to be permeated with it, as in Japan, where the forms of vases, bowls and the designs and paintings of the greatest masters, repeat the graceful lines of vine and flower, and scores of famous poems celebrate the asagao in written characters as beautiful to the eye as is their sound to the ear.

The asagao was brought to Japan with the Buddhist religion, that particular cult of early rising. Scholars and priests who went over to study the new religion brought back the seeds of many Chinese plants. The tea plant came then, and Eisai brought the seeds of the sacred bo tree, and Tai Kwan, the Chinese priest at the Obaku temple in Uji, who may have introduced the flower to Japan, was one of the first to sing of the asagao in graceful outas, classic poems which scholarly brushes repeat today. "Asagaos bloom and fade so quickly, only to prepare for the morrow's glory," is Tai Kwan's best known verse.

How Punch and Judy Came to England.

The heyday of the puppet show in England was during the last century. Long before then strolling showmen had exhibited "drolls" or "motions"—as the English puppets were known in the early days—to crowds of gaping rustics, but it was not until the time of Steele and Addison that the puppet show became a fashionable amusement, patronized by upper tendom.

Pulcinella came to London in 1666, when an Italian puppet player set up his booth at Charing Cross and paid a small rental to the overseers of St. Martin's parish. His name was at once Englished into Punchinello, which was soon to be completely Anglicized as Punch.—Harper's Magazine.

A Contingent Name.

The Syracuse Post says that a girl baby was recently brought to a clergyman of the city to be baptized. The latter asked the name of the baby.

"Dinah M.," the father responded.

"But what does the 'M' stand for?" interrogated the minister.

"Well, I do not know yet. It all depends upon how she turns out."

"How she turns out? Why, I do not understand you," said the dominie.

"Oh, if she turns out nice and sweet and handy about the house, like her mother, I shall call her Dinah May, but if she has a fiery temper and displays a bombshell disposition, like mine, I shall call her Dinah Might."

At Her Mercy.

"So the telephone girl is taking her revenge, Whirly?"

"It's awful. Every time I ring up she connects me with three or four wrong numbers in succession, and then sweetly informs me that the number which I really want is 'busy now.'"—Detroit Free Press.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, JAN. 5.

GETTING down to business seems to be an expression the legislature does not now understand.

SALEM silverites will celebrate Jackson day with an entertainment, charging an admission of 10 cents. A 10 cent show, as it were.

BEFORE you believe all you read in the Democratic press of wage reductions since the Dingley bill became a law, it is good policy to investigate. It might not be all true.

THERE are thousands of people in Liverpool who never saw Mark Hanna, but their sympathies are with him because they know him as the chairman of the National Republican committee, who carried the flag of the party to victory, and won the most important election in the history of Republicanism.

THE PARTY'S PROMISE.

The promise of a political party should be as binding as the promise of an individual. When the Toledo convention decided that the program should be the re-election of Governor Bushnell and the election of a legislature that would send Mr. Hanna to the senate, the people accepted it in good faith and supported the ticket. When the election resulted in Republican victory the rank and file of the party expected that program to be carried out. They still expect it, nor will they be satisfied until Mr. Hanna has been chosen.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Governor Bushnell touches a popular chord when he recommends in his message to the legislature the enactment of a measure that will place primary elections under the control of regularly authorized election boards. After suffering for many years because of the system now in use, Ohio is beginning to realize that the best method of killing the political boss is to strike through the primary election. If the legislature can only be brought to see the matter in that light there are better times in store for the people of this state who believe corruption in politics to be among the nation's greatest dangers.

HONOR AND GOOD FAITH.

Honor, probity, truth and fair play demand that Marcus A. Hanna shall receive the senatorial position to which he aspires. The late battle in Ohio was fought on this foundation, and a grand Republican victory was the result. The rank and file of the Republican party declared, in unmistakable tones, for Hanna, and the delegates to Columbus are guilty of a complete breach of good faith and defiance of the wishes of their constituents when they attempt to defeat Marcus A. Hanna. The man who heads the defection from his party, and acts in open opposition to the Republican masses of the Buckeye State, may be termed, by some, a keen, far-seeing and brilliant politician; but the man of truth and a right sense of honor will declare such a politician a traitor and a deserter, absolutely unfit to occupy the position of a leader, and best fitted for the company of falsifiers and pothouse political tricksters. Such a man is an unsafe man, even to his co-workers in deceit and trickery, as he has his price and can be bought and sold at the command of the highest bidder. From such so-called brilliant and brainy politicians may the country at large be delivered. The only feature they deserve is political oblivion and the execration of all men of honor.

Not So Heavy.

Holiday business at the postoffice is over, and Postmaster Miskall and his force have an opportunity to look around them. The mails sent out today are lighter than they have been for some time.

IT'S HOT IN COLUMBUS

Political History Is Being Rapidly Made.

REVIEW OF THE SITUATION

Blacque Wilson Tells News Review Readers All About the Big Battle Now Being Fought at the Capitol, and Has a Word About the Leaders.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—[Special]—One of the most sensational and remarkable sessions of any legislature ever held in Ohio was that which marked the opening of the seventy-third general assembly on Monday. Political history was made on that day, and the scenes enacted will not soon be forgotten by those who participated in them. The occasion was also very spectacular from a visitor's point of view. On that occasion a Democratic minority came into a Republican assembly and, with the aid of a handful of bolters from the Republican ranks, organized both branches. Although the Republicans had a good majority in the house and a tie in the senate, their regular slate was smashed to a thousand bits and Fred Blankner was the only man saved from the wreck. "Col. Fred" has been about the state house so long that he is above party considerations, and he was returned to his old place as third assistant sergeant at arms. Otherwise the officers and employees of the assembly are all new men, from clerks to pages.

In the senate the Democrats captured the organization entire, this being made possible by the absence of Senator Burke, of Cleveland, who was a part of the combine with the Democrats. Senator Thaddeus E. Cromley, of Pickaway county, was elected president pro tem, and the Democrats took to themselves every office from chief clerk down. Senator Voight, of Hamilton county, was elected on a Democratic fusion ticket, and it was expected that he would vote with the Democrats on the organization. When the Democrats demanded all the places and refused to allow the Republicans anything, the senator refused to enter into their plans, but they were successful without him.

Besides looking after the presiding officer's chair, in the absence of Lieutenant Governor Jones, it is expected that Senator Cromley will act as the Democratic leader during the session. The leadership of the Republican side is not so well defined, but it lies between Senators Sullivan, Alexander and Garfield.

The greatest sensation of the organization occurred in the house, where the Republicans had what should have been a working majority, that body being composed of 52 Republicans and 47 Democrats. Nine of these Republicans went over to the Democrats and so captured the organization. Hon. Alexander Boxwell, of Warren county, was the regular Republican candidate for speaker, and John L. Means for speaker pro tem. When the first vote was taken the tension was intense. When the roll call was finished Mr. Boxwell had only 53 votes and Harry C. Mason, of Cuyahoga, the candidate of the combine, had 56. The same vote elected John E. Griffith, of Union, speaker pro tem. The Democrats voted solidly for these men, and for a slate that included every officer of the house. There was great excitement over the first vote and cheers and hisses were mingled with equal force. The intense feeling was made manifest by Mr. Boxwell, who refused to shake hands with his successful opponent, and took occasion to call the bolters "traitors" when he made a speech seconding the nomination of Means.

The members who formed the combination with the Democrats were Harry C. Mason, Cuyahoga; M. F. Bramley, Cuyahoga; John E. Griffith, Union; John P. Jones, Stark; James Joyce, Guernsey; James Manuel, Montgomery; J. C. Otis, Hamilton; D. O. Rutan, Carroll; W. A. Scott, Fulton. These men hold the balance of power, and if they stick to the compact they have made they will be able to do just about as they please during this session. What their political future will be and the excuses they will make to their Republican constituency is another story.

From the developments of the first two days of the legislature, it is plain that there will be plenty of excitement during the session, and there are rumors of sensations that nobody dreamed of a few weeks ago. The Democrats intend to take every advantage of the position in which they find themselves, and already they are dreaming of great things.

Of course the question of the next United States senator from Ohio is involved in all this to a large extent. But the probable outcome is a question that no man can fathom. The reader can take the claims of both sides and then form his own opinion. Senator Hanna stood sponsor for Mr. Boxwell, and to a certain extent made the speakership fight his own. Still the Hanna managers do not admit defeat with the downfall of Boxwell. They claim that Hanna is stronger than Boxwell by at least five votes, and if this is true he is safe. On the other hand the friends of Mr. Kurtz claim they can hold the combination together on the senatorial question and that Hanna is beaten. Still other well informed politicians promise a deadlock, and say that some of the Democrats will not vote for any Republican senator. The first senatorial ballot will not be taken until next Tuesday and there is plenty of time to work and speculate. Certain it is that the defeat of Boxwell has made the situation more dangerous for Mr. Hanna.

Up in the halls of the state house the members are getting themselves settled and business will soon be running on smoothly. Already some bills have been introduced, but little legislation will be enacted for a week or two; or until the committees are appointed and get down to work.

BLACQUE WILSON.

JUST CAUSE FOR PRIDE

Have You Inspected the First National Bank?

THE WORK IS SIMPLY SUPERB

The Splendid Woodwork and Elegant Grill Work are the Subject of the Very Warmest Commendation at the Hands of Experts and Judges.

Do you desire to inspect beautiful wood and grill work, turned out in the very finest style of the art, reflecting credit upon the manufacturer and upon the patron or customer making use thereof? If you do, pay a visit to the First National bank of East Liverpool, where the Sandusky Furniture company have placed in position superb work in their line, making the large reception and business room of the bank a thing of beauty and artistic delight.

The Sandusky Furniture company make a specialty of bank fixtures, keeping pace with the business demands of the country, and the present fitting of the First National is in accord with the very latest designs and patterns in wood and grill work. The wood work is composed of quarter sawed white oak, with fine antique high grade finish, and presents a very handsome appearance. The grided work and wicker work are simply superb and must be seen to be fully appreciated, while the light is reflected from French plate glass, chipped and bevel edged, the whole presenting an appearance which cannot fail in pleasing those who come in contact therewith.

Grilled wicker work of bronzed metal divides the receiving and paying tellers' office from the main business department, this latter department being furnished with the very latest and best approved desks and other necessary features. This department contains, just in the rear, the splendid and massive vault and fire and burglar proof safe.

When you step into the outer office of the bank, you will find comfortable and cosy seats, the product of the Sandusky Furniture Company, these seats making your waiting moments, in case of rush of business, much easier than if compelled to stand while waiting your turn.

If you desire to see the directors or officials on important business of a private nature, you will make your wants known to the cashier, who will direct you to the rear apartment and pass you to a door which, as you approach it, will open automatically and admit you to the inner or private business office. In a word, the furnishment is complete in every detail, and demonstrates the fact that the Sandusky Furniture Company understand their business to a nicety and that work entrusted to their care is in safe and trustworthy hands.

The company makes a specialty of store, office and bank fixtures, interior finish, stair work and turning, and, judging by the work just completed at the First National bank, they fully deserve the splendid reputation they have acquired in the work put upon the market.

SENT HIM TO THE PEN

Hudson B. Kinney Was Given Three Years.

IT'S THE MINIMUM SENTENCE

The Man Was Twice Convicted—One Divorce Granted—Wellsville Case Appealed—Settled a Damage Action—Edward Skelly Disposed of.

LISBON, Jan. 5.—[Special]—Hudson B. Kinney, of Liverpool, was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary at hard labor for the crime against Miss Ada Everson for which he was twice convicted. The arguments in the motion for a new trial were heard last evening. The prisoner was given the minimum sentence for the crime which is, in the language of Judge Taylor, "the lowest and most revolting mentioned in the statutes."

Judge Taylor granted Samuel Galbreath a divorce from Amanda Galbreath, and gave to her $300 alimony and a quit claim deed for the property owned by her prior to their marriage. The case was heard two weeks ago. The parties are from Butler township.

Probate court has authorized the settlement of the damage claim in the John Halverstadt estate against the Pennsylvania company. The company agrees to pay the widow $400. Two years ago Halverstadt was killed while crossing the Fort Wayne track at Columbiana. A damage action has never been filed.

The People's Oil company has appealed the case in which A. C. Johnson recently got judgment in a Wellsville court for $300. A year ago Johnson parted with his oil plant with the understanding that he could obtain it again any time he paid $207. He offered the amount, but the company refused to deliver the outfit.

Edward Skelly, of Leetonia, was given two years in the penitentiary by Judge Smith this morning for the assault on W. D. McKeefrey, of that place.

Marriage Licenses.

LISBON, Jan. 5.—[Special]—Marriage licenses were issued today as follows:

R. S. Magee and Jose Russell, Wellsville; J. K. Black and Mary J. Robertson, Robert Wilkinson and Sophia Robertson, John Franklin and Fanny Brunsey, George Crawford and Rebecca Lanton.

Diamonds Made by Pressure.

Another method of producing diamonds has been devised by Dr. Majorana. Carbon, heated in the electric arc, is submitted to a pressure of 5,000 atmospheres created by the action of an explosive compound on a small piston, leaving a mass of graphite and amorphous carbon with minute crystals that have the properties of a diamond. They have no more commercial value, however, than those made by Moissan's process. —Chicago Tribune.

WELLSVILLE.

VERY LITTLE PROGRESS

Is Now Being Made In the Pottery Matter.

NOT QUITE ENOUGH COLLECTED

To Secure the Plant, but the Soliciting Committee Has Not Given Up—News of the Shops—West End and Liverpool Men Fought—Wellsville Happenings.

The gentlemen who should know something of the pottery project will not say a word about it, but the story is whispered around that the soliciting committees have not been as successful as was anticipated.

There have been a number of board meetings, but what transpired is not given to the public. The amount of money pledged is not sufficient to insure the erection of the plant, but only a few thousands are required to make up the bonus. The committee, it is understood, complains because many people who can, have not contributed a cent toward the project, and the money has, in the main, been subscribed by people who desire to have Wellsville grow, but are not the wealthiest in town.

Another effort will be made to bring these people into line.

Shop Notes.

The News of Wellsville.

The first big fight in several weeks occurred on Third street last evening. The names of the parties could not be learned, but it was found that one was from East Liverpool and the other from the West End. No arrests were made.

While a party of little folks were playing on the ice yesterday, near the upper bridge, the ice broke, and one little fellow fell through. He was quickly helped out, but was more frightened than hurt.

Miss Dee Andrews will entertain the Silent Sisters, next week.

There will likely be a special meeting of council soon to take further action on the switch matter.

H. O. McElvane, night yardmaster, is very ill, caused by a bad cold.

It was rumored around town today that John Catlett will be a candidate for mayor next spring. There are a number of others, it is said, who would also like to have the position.

The body of F. P. Wilhelm, who was killed yesterday in the Conway yards, was brought home last night and taken to his home on Fourteenth street. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Wilhelm was well known and highly esteemed, and the accident was particularly a sad one, as he was to have been promoted to conductor in a short time. He leaves a wife and two children.

MISS McLEAN'S GOOD REPORT

A Great Many People Visited the Library During the Year—February Was the Banner Month For Readers—All Are Encouraged.

There was not a quorum present last evening at the meeting of the library directors, and they will not organize until their next regular meeting.

The report of the librarian, Miss McLean, for the year ending Dec. 31, shows that there were 3,768 readers during the year and 3,349 books were loaned, while 273 persons used reference books. The number of visitors was not kept the early part of the year, but since October 967 persons have visited the library.

February was the banner month for readers, and during that time 600 persons availed themselves of the opportunities of the library.

The largest number of books taken out was during the month of March, when 405 books were loaned.

The report is very encouraging to the association, and shows that the library is appreciated by a large number of people.

Formerly Lived Here.

Mrs. Herman Miller, of Leetonia, who died suddenly at Lisbon, yesterday, was formerly Miss Hattie Ashbaugh, of this city, and was well known here.

She was a sister of Mrs. Charles Menough, Robert Ashbaugh and Oliver Ashbaugh, of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Menough, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashbaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ashbaugh are in Leetonia today attending the funeral.

Insane at the Institute.

LISBON, Jan. 5.—[Special]—Mrs. Rebecca Vanfossen, wife of James Vanfossen, of this place, became violently insane at the farmers' institute last night.

Mrs. Vanfossen has been in the asylum three times, and this morning a telegram was sent to Newburg asking her readmission.

Hunting Coons.

The Ocon Hunting association will Friday evening take their second hunt of the season.

They will leave here about midnight and drive to the home of Mr. Welch, near Township Line, where a supper will be served. They will then proceed to capture all the coons in the country.

Only Sore Throat.

There is not a case of contagious disease in the city. This morning it was reported that a child in Trentvale street was suffering with membranous croup, but upon investigation the authorities found the child had nothing but a mild attack of sore throat.

Installation and Banquet.

District Deputy Frank Kerr will install the officers of the Junior Mechanics tomorrow evening, and after installation a banquet will be served. It is expected the deputy will be accompanied by several members of the Wellsville council.

An Epitaph.

The danger of using porcelain letters on a tombstone is illustrated in a village cemetery not far from St. Louis. The inscription reads:

O Lord,
She is thin!

The final "e" had been knocked off in a thunderstorm.—St. Louis Star.

The clergy of Russia are divided into two classes—the white or village clergy, who must all be married, and the black clergy, or monks, who are vowed to celibacy. The higher dignitaries of the church are invariably chosen from this last class.

Liverpool Will Back Them.

The McDonald association football team have accepted the challenge of the Homestead club to play for $100 a side, and in case the game is played much money will be wagered in this city on the result.

An English Sermon.

Reverend Passevant, of Pittsburg, will occupy the pulpit Sunday evening at the Lutheran church. The sermon will be delivered in English.

Taking a New Position.

Andy Kerr has resigned as secretary of the Clerks' union, and will take the road in the interest of the Murphy pottery.

THE PRESIDENT'S COUSIN.

John Campbell's Remarkable Facial Resemblance and Visit to Mr. McKinley.

A little old man who recently sat in one corner of the lobby of a Washington hotel and unconcernedly puffed large rings of tobacco smoke into the air above him attracted attention by his remarkable facial resemblance to President McKinley.

John Campbell lives in Warren, O., where he is the proprietor of the Campbell House.

"Uncle John" is on a visit to Washington now, and he will be here a week or more. Of course he has been over to the White House to see Cousin William, and he has received a standing invitation to call often.

"Yes, siree," said he to a reporter the other evening, "William and I are double cousins. My father and William's mother were brother and sister, and my mother and his father were own cousins. Oh, yes, I do bear a resemblance to the president, or, to be correct, he bears a resemblance to me, for I am 18 years older.

"William's mother said to his wife the last time I visited them in Canton before she died that the major looked more like me than any other relative he had. And the major's wife assented to this, too," added "Uncle John," with a merry twinkle of his eye.

"I was born in Niles too. I remember as well as can be when the major was born. My mother was present, and I recollect of her telling about the new baby over at Uncle William's, as we always spoke of the major's father. When the baby was about a week old, I was permitted to see him. I was at that age that babies had very little attraction for me. I know I never for a moment thought that he would some day be president of the United States. But he is, and I am proud of him.

"I was at the funeral of the president's mother in Canton a couple of weeks ago. William and Abner were the first ones to greet me at the door. There's nothing stuck up about William. He always seems glad to see me."

"Uncle John" Campbell has a son drawing salary from the present administration. This is George Campbell, who is foreman of a gang of men in the street cleaning department in this city. President McKinley caused the appointment to be made.—Washington Star.

SHOOTING AT HUNTERS.

Curious Theory of the Condition of Homelands in the Woods.

The Maine hunters who have shot at men under the impression that they were deer have proved excellent marksmen this year. Though none of the human targets was nearer than 200 yards and some fully 1,000 yards away, of the 18 shot at 14 have either fallen dead or died within a few minutes, and of the wounded two will be cripples for life.

A great many strange deductions have been drawn from these facts, the most interesting of which is the belief that the men who did the shooting knew at the time that they were firing at a man and couldn't help it. Nearly every homicide was a novice in deer hunting. He was making his first trip after big game and was nerved up to a high mental tension in expectation of seeing game. After hunting for a few hours under such a strain he lost control of his muscles and became an automaton and shot at the first object that came in sight. If a deer chanced to come along at that time, the deer fell and the hunter was applauded for his good marksmanship, and if he killed a man under the impression that he was shooting at a deer he received a lot of sympathy for his misfortune and was asked how he happened to make such a fine shot.

More than half of the homicides have said that they felt they were shooting at a man the moment they pulled the trigger, though they had been sure it was a deer an instant before. The realization of the facts came to them when it was too late.—New York Sun.

GLOVE FITTING COFFIN.

Wabash (Ind.) Doctor Is Having His Casket Built to Order.

Dr. J. H. Ford of Wabash, Ind., 85 years old, has ordered his coffin built at the Wabash School Furniture company's factory, and Manager Lynn has undertaken to meet the careful specifications.

A workman was called in and the measurement of the subject was taken. The doctor enjoined upon Mr. Lynn the importance of having it not an inch too long, broad or deep. He wanted a glove fit. He objected to the conventional walnut, mahogany and poplar stained to the color of dark woods and preferred quarter sawed white oak, finished a natural color. It is to have a piano polish and will have a plate glass top for the upper half, and the interior will be lined with white goods. The task of making the casket was entrusted to one of the skilled cabinet men of the shop.

Every day Dr. Ford calls at the factory to observe the progress and make suggestions and proposes when the work is finished to take it home with him, though his friends hope it will be many years before he will need it.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The oldest wooden building in the world is a church at Borgund, Norway. It was erected in the eleventh century, and frequent coats of pitch have preserved the wood from decay.

BIG GRAIN CORNERS.

THE FAILURES OF SPECULATORS OUTNUMBER THE SUCCESSES.

Jim Keene's Experience—Hutchinson's Successful Corner—Speculations of Cudahy and Partridge—Collapse of Harper's Wheat Deal—Some Corn Corners.

If Joe Leiter's wheat experience should prove unhappy—and it hasn't yet—he would still have that consolation which a miserably man is supposed to get from company. People who delve in grain corner literature find one thing very early—the failures outnumber the successes.

Everybody knows that Jim Keene lost his first great fortune in a wheat corner at Chicago. He started in lard and made a great deal of money. His wheat operations in the seventies extended over two years and, while promising at first, finally proved disastrous. Nobody failed. The money simply dwindled down, and when the cash wheat had been liquidated Keene's fortune was gone. There were some spectacular features. W. T. Baker, when in Paris recently, was shown a cablegram by one of the great French grain merchants. It was touching the sale of 5,000,000 bushels of wheat in one lot. Baker had negotiated it up to the point of closing. Somebody influenced Keene to halt in it. The opportunity disappeared from that moment. Nobody knew it at the time, but all chances of success of Keene disappeared with the loss of that sale.

To find a successful wheat corner one must go back to 1888. It was in September of that year Hutchinson put the price to $2 a bushel. There were less than 3,000,000 bushels of contract grain in Chicago on the last day of that month. Hutchinson began his purchase around 80 cents, 15 cents higher than the point where Leiter began. September was around 95 cents on the first and at $2 on the last day of the month. The deal was kept very dark until the last week. Then the screws were applied unmercifully.

The collapse of the Harper deal the year previous had made every one incredulous of a successful manipulation. This skepticism helped Hutchinson more than anything else. Oct. 1 the price was off to $1.02. That there was merit in the situation was shown by the advance later without any help to $1.20.

No one has ever owned as much wheat as Cudahy did in 1893. His line at one time was 28,000,000 bushels. That was when Partridge was short at least 15,000,000 bushels. There have never been such titanic risks as were assumed in that campaign. Cudahy, by a supreme effort, one day—April 12—put the May price to 90 cents.

Partridge's fortune was in the balance. Cudahy succeeded in forcing 6,000,000 bushels shorts to settle. Partridge held out, however. The whole world was selling wheat. Cudahy had to abandon the campaign. The panic had started in financial circles, and his hard operations demanded all his capital. It took Partridge a month to cover up his shorts, and to this day no one dares to say how large his interest was. The deal lost the northwest a vast amount of money and has made the Minneapolis and Duluth speculators timid about hedging at Chicago ever since.

A collapsed bank, a penitentiary sentence for the manipulator and the failure of a score of board of trade firms were the results of the Harper wheat deal of 1887. The president of the Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati, an unscrupulous speculator, reputed to be rich and capable, but in truth without means and passing off effrontery for capacity, started a wheat deal in the spring of 1887. He gave his brokers the idea they were acting for Standard Oil millionaires. He bamboozled everybody around him, the president of his bank, his directors and his Chicago commission men. His money came from his bank, and his speculation was begun for the purpose of making for him the fortune he had claimed, but which he had never possessed. He began with wheat around 80 cents, and on the day of his collapse—June 14, 1887—he put it to 94 cents. He had to take 15,000,000 bushels of spot grain, and if he had kept on he would have had to pay for 25,000,000 bushels, for his manipulation was for July. There was no lack of wheat anywhere that year. The board of trade directors were compelled to make emergency warehouse room, such a flood of it was arriving. Hutchinson, who put wheat to $2 a year later, was an active interest against Harper. There were never such shipments from Chicago as followed the collapse of that corner.

Corn corners were the rule rather than the exception in the early eighties. Ricker, who died leaving less than $1,000,000, was known as the "Corn King" and would manipulate month after month. The corn crops of that period were almost 1,000,000,000 bushels less than they average now, and anything under 50 cents a bushel was, from 1881 to 1884, called cheap.

"Deacon" J. B. Hobbs, as active in Methodist and temperance circles then as now, ran a deal for rich New Yorkers in the fall of 1883. A new contrivance was sprung on him, the "marginal price." The board of trade directors, on petition of the corn shorts, met and declared that the market situation warranted especial margin calling privileges. The directors authorized those who had corn sold to "Deacon" Hobbs to call him, margins about 20 cents under the market. It compelled a very hasty selling out of corn, spoiled the deal and broke the "deacon's" customers. The mere whisper of "marginal price" will still scare a weak manipulator half out of his senses.

A very successful corn corner was run in 1890 by Bartlett-Frazier and the Pattens. A different experience befell the Coster-Martin firm in May, 1892. The price was put to $1, but the bulls had too little capital. The elevator interests sold so much on the last day of the month and called margins so fiercely the bulls were swamped. Deacon Stephen V. White lost his fortune a few years ago trying to corner at Chicago.—Chicago Times-Herald.

A TRIAL IN TRENTON

Is What Mrs. Phoebe Ellis Is Expecting

BEFORE SHE GETS HER PROPERTY

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis Is Preparing to Defend Her Position—A Number of Depositions Have Been Taken In This City, and a Warm Contest Is Expected.

Mrs. Phoebe Ellis, whose husband, Edward Ellis, died recently in Trenton, will contest the claim of Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis for the property he left, as long as the courts will allow it.

When the Trenton claimant appeared Mrs. Ellis determined to push the case, and her attorneys have since been taking depositions which will be used to show that she is the legal wife. A number of these witnesses reside in this city, and the documents have already been sent to Trenton. Mrs. Ellis will go to that place next Saturday. The case will be heard Jan. 14.

The story is told here that Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, of Trenton, will put forward her strongest claim for the property, and some sensational developments are expected.

On the River.

The river is falling and no rise of considerable volume is now expected from the melting of the snow. Almost all the ice now in the upper rivers is floating out, and within a few days the stream will be clear.

The marks at the wharf today showed 6.6 feet and stationary.

The Queen City is due down tonight, and the Ben Hur up.

For Sale.

The stock and fixtures, show cases etc., etc., of W. H. Wells, Sixth street, Ikirt building; everything ready for the purchaser to start in business. Also a complete ice cream outfit, including water motor. Will sell entire, or to suit purchaser. Inquire of

W. A. WEAVER,
199 and 201 Washington street,
East Liverpool.

Watching Columbus.

A great many people in this place are interested in the outcome of the battle now being fought in Columbus. The news is eagerly read, and when something of more than ordinary interest comes from the capital it is at once handed around.

So far as could be learned there has been no betting on the result.

Preparing For Trade.

All the modelers of the city are rushed with work, almost every pottery in town having decided to put something new on the market.

It is said that the new shapes are better than ever, and the local factories will have for the spring trade the best line of goods ever sent out from the city.

Without a Janitor.

No arrests were made during the night and everything about police court this morning was quiet.

City hall is now without a janitor as the former one, Fred Wolf was released, yesterday afternoon. Speculation is now being made as to who will be the next one to hold down the job.

Delayed by a Kiln.

The new kiln at the Sebring plant in Second street will be finished this week and the kiln hands in the biscuit department will then be able to start work. Had it not been for the erection of the new kiln, this department would have started work some time ago.

LESS THAN COST.

Housekeepers can get old papers, suitable for placing under carpets or trimming shelves, at much less than cost of material by calling at the News Review office.

Slippery Streets.

The streets were so slippery this morning that many venturesome ones who continued the custom of walking on sidewalks regretted it. The middle of the road was the popular place for walking.

Still Slow.

Business at the freight depot is still slow and the outlook for any immediate rush is not promising. The usual number of cars were sent out from the outbound platform.

FRANKLIN'S GRAVE.

Reasons Given For Allowing It to Remain In Its Present Condition.

Benjamin Franklin's grave is in a neglected condition. No appropriate stone rises over it, the ground round about it is uncared for, and the tomb of the great scholar and statesman is as obscure as that of a man whose name and fame were no part of the glory of his country.

His grave is destitute even of a headstone. It is covered by an old fashioned marble slab which was placed there 100 years ago and is now worn and discolored by age.

Nothing has been done to it since Franklin was buried there, and even the modest arrangements of the grave are not kept in the perfect condition that is expected of a great man's tomb. The earth on all sides is bare of grass, the common thatching of the commonest grave, and an air of desolation is about the whole place.

The sexton said that the descendants of Franklin would not do anything to repair the grave; neither would they allow anybody else to do anything. Every day he has received offers of subscriptions from visitors, who are distressed by the forlorn appearance of Franklin's resting place and who would like to see it improved. In reply he says, as he has been instructed, that Franklin wished it so, "being a plain man averse to display of any kind." Not long ago, at his own expense, he had the fading inscription recut, or else even the only distinguishing mark, the name, would be gone.

If he had not done so, the last resting place of the greatest man, outside of Washington, in American history would have been forgotten and unknown. Who is responsible for this condition of affairs? Not the living relatives of Franklin. The responsibility rests with the American people, to whom the man belongs. They should see to it in the future that what little is there to mark the grave is kept in better order than it has been in the past.

Before he died Franklin provided for his own gravestone and instructed a stonecutter of his acquaintance in every detail, even to the inscription which was to be placed upon it. He desired to be buried beside his wife, who had died some years before, and a common slab was to be placed over them both. The inscription arranged as he ordered it reads:

BENJAMIN
and
DEBORAH } FRANKLIN
1790

Everything was done as he desired, and the work was paid for out of his estate and stands today the same as when he died.—Philadelphia Times.

Wobbled When He Came to Possum.

Old Uncle Claybrook is a very religious old dandy and holds converse with his Maker twenty times a day or oftener. His habit is to pray and then turn off into what appears to be a one sided conversation with the Lord, but it is evident that there is another party to it as far as he is concerned. To hear him reminds one very much of a telephone conversation.

The other day he was going through his customary devotions, and when he got to the point of expressing thankfulness for the many blessings of life he broke off into a recounting of them, says Cicero T. Sutton of the Owensboro Inquirer. "An den, dar's possum, Lord—how'd you ever think of makin possum? Possum jes' beats all. You jes' couldn't beat it ef you tried ag'in. Possum, he, he! Yes, dar's watahmillion. I hadn't thought of dat. Hit's jes' great. You couldn't beat hit neither, conkd you, Lord? Now, hones', couldn' you jes' fix it so dey bofe git ripe at once? Ef you try to do dat, you might go out an shet de do'. Dey wouldn't be no mo' sin an no mo' sorrow an no mo' tribelation. Jes' try hit once, Lord, an jes' see whut a diffance hit would make."

And then "old uncle" began to hum a quaint negro camp meeting tune and stopped to look at a piece of liver in a butcher's stall as the best substitute for his loved possum or as best suited to the small piece of money which represented his total movable wealth.

Rugs and Moving.

A certain man who owns a row of dwelling houses over in the northwest quarter of the town has learned wisdom by bitter experience. A friend of mine went to him not long ago to rent one of the houses.

"Do you lease it by the month or by the year?" she inquired.

"No," answered my friend; "we have rugs."

"You'll have to sign a year's lease then," the landlord made reply, smiling craftily. "If you bought carpets and had them fitted to the floors, I know you'd stay in the house as long as you could, but these rugs are too easily adjusted to any sized room. You'll have to sign a year's lease if you have rugs. There are seven houses in my row, and six of them haven't kept a tenant longer than two years at a time for the last five years. The seventh house—well, the people in it had carpets made and laid for it five years ago, and they haven't thought of moving. Carpets, I'll rent

by the month, rugs, a year's lease."—Washington Post.

A doctor on tour through the highlands came upon a fair sized village where there was no brother practitioner. Surprised at this and anxious to learn how the people got on without one, he took the first opportunity to inquire.

"A doctor!" said the old woman whom he accosted. "We need nae doctor."

"And what do you do for medicine in the case of illness?" pursued the man of medicine.

"We need nae medicine either. We jist keep whusky for the man an tar for the sheep," replied the old woman.

The doctor admitted that a glass of whisky might be good enough in some cases, but not always.

"A weel," readily responded the old woman, "if ae glass disna dae we gie twa, and if twa disna dae we mak' it three, and if that disna dae they were gaun tae dee onyway."—Scottish Nights.

Did She Ever Live In Boston?

A young lady of Buffalo who wanted something that would keep her stockings up where they belonged thus addressed the terror stricken young store clerk:

"It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendages capable of being contracted and expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Alaska diamonds and which are utilized for keeping in position the habiliment of the lower extremities which innate delicacy forbids me to mention."—Buffalo (WY.) Voice.

Essay.

Cazabon of the Marseilles theater relates that he learned in two hours and played the same evening the part of Buridan in "La Tour de Nesle."

"Prodigious!" says a bystander. "How could you ever do it?"

"Ho, I just read it carefully and then I tied a knot in my handkerchief to remember it by."—Paris Figaro.

The Turk was originally a Tartar, with a nose as flat as that of the Hun, a receding chin and squint eyes, but amalgamation with the nations he has conquered has elevated his nose, straightened his eyes and brought his chin into a prominence more becoming than it was before.

A drunk whose name could not be learned was arrested this morning by Officer Woods. He was caught sleeping in the hallway of an uptown restaurant. The patrol took him to the coop.

ENLARGED LYMPH GLANDS.

What the Lumps Mean and How They Should Be Treated.

"What are these lumps in my baby's neck?" is a question often asked the doctor.

The system of lymph glands and tubes covers the entire body. If it were exposed to view, it would have the appearance of meshwork. Lymph ducts lead from the skin, from the mucous membrane, and from bone to lymph bodies which are further connected with one another by the same means.

At any point where there is an inflammation, a sore, a breaking of the skin or mucous surface, there will be found open mouths of lymph ducts into which waste matter is liable to enter. This waste matter sets up an irritation and an enlargement of the lymph bodies to which it finds its way. It will now be easily understood how such an enlargement or inflammation of the lymph bodies always points to a state of inflammation at some point, perhaps at a considerable distance from the lumps themselves. Thus a felon on the finger causes enlarged glands to appear in the armpit.

Lumps in the neck may sometimes be plainly traced to eczema of the scalp. Sometimes the mouth is the seat of the trouble. Large and inflamed tonsils may be present, or the teeth may be decaying.

When the ear is the seat of an abscess, either before or during the course of a purulent discharge enlarged glands are common.

Enlarged lymph bodies just behind the angle of the jaw are sometimes significant of catarrh of the nose and the adjacent portion of the throat.

The existence of enlarged lymph bodies for a few days, or sometimes for a longer interval, cannot be said to be in itself dangerous. The case is different when lumps exist for several weeks or longer. They become changed in character after this time and begin to break down and form purulent matter. This stage, too, is more difficult to cure, as surrounding tissue may become affected. The skin over the glands is involved and becomes part of the large, soft, red or purplish swelling, now called an abscess, which either breaks or is lanced by the surgeon.

These enlargements may become invaded by the tubercle bacilli, from which consumption of the lungs or a general consumption may develop.

During the course of an infectious disease, when the glands in the neck sometimes become enlarged, the care of the throat must not be neglected. The use of an antiseptic solution on the affected parts will often produce an immediate good result.—Youth's Companion.

About Lightning Rods.

Rods, although they may not entirely protect a building, may preserve it from being seriously damaged. The Jefferson physical laboratory of Harvard university is protected in the following manner: Each of the chimneys is provided with rods which are connected with conductors running along the eaves. From the corners of the roof conductors are led to the ground and are connected underground with a conductor which entirely surrounds the building and which is connected to a permanent water supply at least ten feet below the surface of the ground. Iron pipes are driven to reach this water supply. This is as near an approach to a cage as circumstances would permit.

A trolley car has a lightning rod in its trolley, which is connected through its motor with the rails and the ground. It is not beyond possibility, however, that a discharge descending the trolley arm should refuse to go through the motor and should seek a quicker oscillating path through the car. This is not likely to happen often, for the network of the trolley wire and the telegraph lines of a town or city, together with the electric light wires, separate and divert into many channels the electrical disturbance. The great increase of wires in our cities serves to protect from great damage by lightning, for many paths are offered to the discharges, which are thus broken up into more or less harmless sparks.—Professor John Trowbridge in Chautauquan.

Poison Ivy.

Just what it is that induces poison ivy to play its injurious pranks on some people at some times and not at others is still a profound mystery. One thing is certain—the number of people susceptible to the poisoning influence must be extremely few, from the fact that in the vicinity of Philadelphia the highways and byways are overrun with the plant to an enormous extent. It is frequently impossible for people to go by without brushing against it, and if it is the vapor or some exudation from the plant which causes the trouble thousands of persons must be under the influence to every one who suffers from it. The writer of this paragraph knows of a tract of land on which the plant grows profusely and on which many scores of laborers are employed. These laborers are frequently set to weeding and pulling out the plant by the naked hand, and so far as the writer knows, none of these men was ever poisoned by it. The cattle eat it greedily whenever they get an opportunity. It seems to have no injurious influence on them.

ARBITRATION DISCREDITED.

Argentine Minister in Spain Makes Declaration Against United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The cause of arbitration in the settlement of claims between nations has received a severe check in the award by the arbitrator in the case of Oberlander and Messenger, who claimed $50,000 and $25,000 respectively for ill-treatment by the Mexican authorities. The arbitrator was the Argentine minister at Madrid, Senor Quesada, and his decision was in favor of the Mexican government and against the American claimants.

The discouraging feature of the decision is that in making the decision the arbitrator apparently overlooked every point of law, according to the English standards, and decided the case with reference to his sympathies. It is said that a more extraordinary opinion than this from a legal point of view was never seen at the state department. Oberlander was a deputy sheriff in California and he was kidnapped and taken across the border by Mexican officers. Mrs. Messenger, in whose house he had taken refuge, was ill-treated.

When it came to rendering his decision, the arbitrator, it is said, ignored the facts and reasoned that because the United States government had not recognized the rights of the Chinese government to indemnity for the killing of Chinese at Rock Springs, Wyo., while insisting upon indemnity for losses sustained by American missionaries in China, we could not expect to have an indemnity awarded our citizens in such cases as this. This peculiar lack of legal perceptions is said, at the department, to be almost without a parallel in the history of arbitration, and has undoubtedly done much to prevent the submission of other claims to arbitration, unless it can first be known that the arbitrator is familiar with the principles of common law, according to the English standards.

MANY TO BE REDUCED.

Cotton Operatives of Maine to Receive Less Wages.

LEWISTON, Me., Jan. 5.—The reduction in the wages of the employees of the cotton mills of Lewiston, which goes into effect Jan. 17, will amount to from 10 to 11.9 per cent, and the other mills in Maine, as far as is known, will adopt either one or the other of these rates.

The Farwell mills at Lisbon, the Edwards of Augusta, the Cabot of Brunswick, the Lockwood of Waterville, the Gardiner mills and the Laconia and Pepperell mills of Biddeford have also joined the general movement and will be followed by the big York corporation of Saco.

It is estimated that nearly 20,000 operatives will be effected in this state. It is thought there will be no strike in Lewiston or Auburn, but it is difficult to tell what the Biddeford operatives will do. The Lewiston and Auburn mills employ about 6,000 persons and the reduction in their pay will amount to about $18,000 a month.

Ketcham Will Be Probated.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Judge Kohlsaat has admitted the will of John B. Ketcham to record. The lawyers for the Ketcham heirs announced that they did not desire to contest the question of the admission of the will to probate, but they will contest in the circuit court.

French Wheelman's Complaint.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Rivierre, the French wheelman, has written to a cycling paper that his American competitors in the six days' race at Madison Square garden had recourse to every foul trick to prevent the Frenchman from finishing. A New York dispatch says the managers of the race deny his statements.

Baseball Magnate Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Charles H. Byrne, who was president of the Brooklyn Baseball club, has died at his residence in this city.

Rockefeller Gives $500,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—A gift of $200,000 has been made by John D. Rockefeller to enable Chicago university to swell its income for the year beginning July 1, 1898, to $750,000, the sum needed to carry out its work as planned.

Sugar Arrives From Cuba.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The steamer Vigilance has arrived from Havana, bringing 1,500 bags, 94,000 pounds, of sugar. This is the first shipment of sugar from Cuba in many months.

Evans to Ask Aid of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Pension Commissioner Evans has in preparation a circular letter to members of congress asking their co-operation in the order to be issued prohibiting the further consideration of pension claims until one year has elapsed from the date of last action. This step was necessary because of the frequent calls of congressmen for a statement showing status of claims, which congested the work of the bureau.

Hungarian Statesmen Fight Duels.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 5.—Two duels with swords were fought here, arising out of insults exchanged during the recent debates in the lower house of the Hungarian parliament. Count Stefan Tisza wounded Herr Ludwig Olay and Herr Edmund Gajary wounded Herr Stefan hayovsky. In both cases the wounds are serious. Herren Tisza and Gajary received flesh wounds.

Bills to Benefit Strikers.

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—Assemblyman Groen of New York will introduce a bill intended, he says, to put a stop to "government by injunction." Another bill to be introduced modifies the law known as "anti-conspiracy" by permitting the peaceable assembling of workmen to induce a workman to leave his employment.

Standard Oil Election.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Standard Oil company resulted in the re-election of the old board of directors, as follows: William Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, H. M. Flagler, J. D. Archbold, H. H. Rogers, W. H. Tilford, A. H. McGregor, Paul Babcock and C. E. Pratt.

Island Belongs to France.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Liberte asserts that Clipperton island, over which the Mexican flag is reported to have been hoisted by a party of marines from the gunboat Democrita, after the Stars and Stripes had been hauled down in spite of the protest of the Americans there, really belongs to France.

Self-Harm on Fire.

TROY, Jan. 5.—Miss May Thompson, aged 21 years, of Dallas, who since last August has been visiting at the residence of Mr. E. Thompson, attempted suicide by setting fire to her clothing after saturating her hair and clothes with kerosene oil. She will die.

Brush Buys St. Louis Club.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5.—Formal transfer of St. Louis Browns has been made to Mr. John T. Brush, owner of the Cincinnati club. Messrs. A. C. Spaulding, C. C. Spink and A. C. Anson are said to be also interested with Mr. Brush in the purchase of the Browns.

HANNA'S POOR CHANCE.

Two Kurtz Men Changed, but One Flopped Back.

SOME SHOW OF A DEADLOCK.

There is also talk among some of the Democrats of John R. McLean or some other Silver Democrat having a chance—the situation.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—The political future of Senator Hanna is certainly in a closely poised balance. While there are now reported to be only nine dissenters among the 50 Republican members, one in the senate and eight in the house, yet the really doubtful list is limited to two or three. Some of the dissenting Republicans are not likely ever to be reconciled to Senator Hanna. They have burned the bridges behind them and openly admit it.

Representative Griffith of Union and Joyce of Guernsey, who voted with "the combine" on the organization of the house, stated that they would vote for Senator Hanna.

This gave Hanna 54 votes in the house and 17 in the senate, a total of 71, or two short of the necessary majority. Droste of Hamilton, who voted for Boxwell for speaker, announced at the time that he would support Jephtha Gerard, a Silver Republican, for senator, so that the net gain for Hanna over the vote on the organization was only one. The Hannamens say they expect to get the votes of Scott of Fulton and Rutan of Carroll, who are instructed for Hanna and voted with "the combine" on the organization. On the other hand, "the combine" managers say that Scott and Rutan will remain with them to a finish, and that they expect to get Snider of Greene and Redkey of Highland, who voted for Boxwell for speaker.

Later the Hanna managers lost the two doubtful members that they had gained, so that there is now no material change from that of Monday, when the house stood 56 to 53 against Hanna. This would give the senator only 70 votes on joint ballot, or three less than enough to elect. In connection with the change of Representative Griffith back to the anti-Hanna camp, there are most scandalously sensational reports in circulation. Mr. Griffith has been on both sides several times, and has so pledged himself in writing. In these dispatches yesterday was an account of the Hanna workers spending Sunday night with Representative Griffith and of him sending at 3 a. m. for his wife to come from the Great Southern hotel to the Neil House, to join him in a conference with the Hanna men.

At 5 a. m. the Kurtz men saw Mrs. Griffith and the almighty work of the Hanna men was undone just before her husband went to the statehouse on Monday morning, to qualify as speaker pro tem, with the other candidates of "the combine." After the legislature was organized, Mr. Griffith had another night of conferences on both sides of the senatorial case, and Tuesday morning he gave the Hanna men a written pledge over his own name that he would vote for the senator. Later in the day he was seen by the opponents of Senator Hanna and he gave out the following as his latest proclamation on his position:

"To the Public:—It is due to the public and to myself that I make a statement of my position the senatorial matter. "While it is true that the convention which nominated me passed a resolution requesting me to support Senator Hanna, and while I, at various times during the campaign and since, declared my intention to follow that request, and even promised a dozen or more of my constituents, in Mr. Hanna's headquarters, on Monday of this week, that I would do so, I have, however, since learning the particulars of the indignities heaped upon my wife Monday morning, reached the conviction that I would be untrue to my manhood should I cast my vote for a man who either uses or employs such methods, and shall resent the indignities and insults heaped upon myself and friends and also do a service for my state and country by voting for a Republican other than Mr. Hanna for United States senator.

"Notwithstanding the threats that have been made to me that I cannot return and live in Union county if I do not vote for Mr. Hanna, it is my hope and belief that the good people, who have honored me with their confidence and whom I love and honor, will uphold me in this determination that cannot under any circumstances now be changed.

When a copy of the statement purporting to come from Representative Griffith was shown to Senator Hanna, he said:

"I do not believe Mr. Griffith ever made this statement, because it is not true. It is represented to me that he is an honorable man, and therefore, I shall not believe, without some further evidence, that he ever made or authorized any such statement."

Notwithstanding Senator Hanna regards it as untrue that Representative Griffith himself publishes this statement, yet it is known that the document is in Griffith's handwriting, whether he prepared it himself or not. The last letter of Griffith has caused

not only a sensation, but the most bitter feeling and the worst of charges on the part of rival workers.

Congressman Grosvenor left for Washington last night and the anti-Hanna men say he has gone there to confer as to the legation, which the opposition report as likely to be Secretary Sherman.

General Grosvenor stated that he had to be in congress on Thursday to take part in the debate, and that he was leaving for that purpose and would be back the last of the week.

J. Park Alexander of Akron, trustee of the Ohio Imbecile Asylum, has resigned because of Governor Bushnell's course on the senatorship. The four Republican clubs of Columbus resolved not to participate in the inauguration of Governor Bushnell next Monday.

The doubtful members are being offered their choice of chairmanships and given the opportunity to make all other selections they want. The power of the organization of the house is certainly being used to the greatest possible advantage and its influence is not to be underestimated in connection with the support of the state administration.

While Mr. Kurtz and his associates will make no statements, yet they are holding back the appointments on the committees and other patronage in anticipation of gaining several votes on the senatorial ballot.

In holding their men in line "the combine" is having trouble with some of the 65 Democratic members. It is believed that Mayor McKisson will give way to Mr. Kurtz for the short term for senator, while Governor Bushnell has all along been regarded as the candidate for the long term. Representative Wiley of Wayne, Powell of Morrow, Niles of Lucas and other radical free silver Democrats are not satisfied with Kurtz and Bushnell, and if they are to vote for Republicans they want them with pronounced silver records like that of Gerrard and others that are named. Some of the Democratic members insist that the breach is so wide and so deep now between the Republicans that John R. McLean or some other free silver Democrat could be elected over Hanna.

Letters and telegrams have poured in on Governor Bushnell, the dissenting Republican members and others, protesting against the action of the Republicans who were in co-operation with the Democrats. In reply those about the headquarters in the Great Southern hotel revived the talk of the American Protective association, the workmen and others being opposed to Senator Hanna. It was charged that the senator had Mrs. Griffith annoyed by his emissaries, and that the senator was with her two hours before her husband announced himself as for Hanna.

The announcement by the Republicans that they would have no joint senatorial caucus tonight or at any time previous to the balloting for senator, will compel all to continue in this guerrilla warfare for another week, but with the result depending on the action of two or three doubtful members, neither side could show its hand without exposing the recruits or the deserters to terrific fires for at least a week. It was expected by the public that there would be decisive results at the caucuses tonight, but there will be no caucuses and the steering committees will try to have all members located before balloting begins.

The senate and the house will ballot separately next Tuesday for senator. But if Senator Hanna has not a majority a week hence, it is doubtful whether any opponent will have it, and the general prediction is for a deadlock. In the event that the balloting next Tuesday doesn't show a majority for anyone, the general assembly will proceed on the next day to ballot in joint assembly and continue to do so till there is an election. The balloting a week hence may not do any more than to compel the contestants to show their names on roll call, and after that the same fight may be continued for an indefinite period.

"The combine" is charging that Senator Hanna is in such desperate straits as to be forced "to swap horses" while crossing the stream, owing to the Republicans deciding to hold no caucus. They also charge that he has been an ex-senator since the legislature met Monday. As Senator Hanna was appointed when Secretary Sherman went into the cabinet, article 2, section 2, of the statutes is being quoted as follows:

"If vacancies (in the senate) happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies."

While this talk about Ohio now having only one senator proceeds the Hanna men explain that they want the same action now as was accorded Senator Foraker two years ago. Foraker had been endorsed at the Zanesville state convention in 1894 for senator, and was elected without any caucus or any Republican opposition in the legislature. The Hanna men say they ask that the same "courtesy and loyalty" now prevail. The plank in the Republican state platform, adopted at Toledo last June, is being freely cited. It is as follows:

"The thanks of the people of this state are due to Senators Foraker and Hanna for their splendid efforts during the present session of congress, and we congratulate the people on their representation in the United States senate.

"Desiring to continue such representation and appreciating his service to the party and to the people of the state and nation and his eminent and proven fitness for the position, we endorse the candidacy of Hon. Marcus A. Hanna for United States senator to succeed himself and pledge the support of the party in the next general assembly to

The sensation of the day was the arrival of the Springfield delegation of 300 Republicans to interview Governor Bushnell and protest against his actions. A huge banner bore the inscription, "Clarke county solid for Marcus A. Hanna," and the bearer was greeted with cheers on the way. In front of the Neil House, an informal ovation greeted the delegation, and so interested were the members that they passed the main entrance to the capitol grounds.

Governor Bushnell was in his rear room of the governor's office. Congressman Weaver headed the delegation as it filed in and acted as spokesman. With the 300 persons in a circle, a Governor Bushnell occupying a position in the center, standing with his hand resting upon the table.

Congressman Weaver, the spokesman of the visiting delegation from Springfield, in addressing Governor Bushnell said:

"I had the honor to present your name at the Toledo convention and am proud of it. Circumstances have arisen which have changed the current of affairs. Certain persons who claim to be Republicans are endeavoring to thwart Mr. Hanna's candidacy, but we cannot believe that you are one of these, that you are unloyal. For you to do this would be a political blunder, if not a political crime.

Following this Congressman Weaver's remarks were in the nature of an appeal to the governor to not permit the Republican party to go down to defeat by the election of any other man for senator except Marcus A. Hanna.

Governor Bushnell was almost overcome by emotion in his response. He referred to the fact that the representatives and senators from Clarke county are strong adherents of Hanna, while but three-fourths of the Cuyahoga delegation are for him. He said he had been misunderstood and misrepresented in the present controversy, and charged that it was not true that he had attended a Democratic conference to defeat Hanna. (Cheers.) He said he did not know that such a conference had been held. He expressed the belief that the members of the house and senate should settle the question of a senator, and that all others should remain out of the fight.

"But this," he said, "cannot be, as it is a free country, and as long as people behave themselves they have a right to be there. But all people have their preferences and prejudices. Until today my Republicanism has never been questioned." Hisses and groans, mingled with cheers, greeted this statement and Governor Bushnell raised his hand to quiet the assemblage.

"Have you taken any action for a candidate, governor?" inquired one of the delegation.

"I have no vote in the legislature," he said.

Continuing, Governor Bushnell said: "I discharged my duty last spring, when I appointed Mr. Hanna United States senator. Now the members of the legislature must discharge theirs."

From the governor's office, the delegation marched to Senator Hanna's headquarters, in the Neil House, where the members greeted the senator. Addresses were made by General Grosvenor, Senator Hanna, Major Dick, Judge Nash and others.

Senator Hanna spoke at length, reviewing the action of the Toledo convention, the work of the last campaign and the action of the past two days, but expressed the fullest confidence in the final result.

The Springfield delegation gave parades, serenaded the newspaper offices and even the headquarters of Kurtz and "the combine," at the Great Southern hotel, and then returned home.

During the session of the legislature more bills were introduced to embarrass Senator Hanna, as on the opening day.

Senator Burke of Cleveland was present and voted with the Democrats. Judge Leilenbaugh of Cleveland declares Burke will vote for Hanna.

Married an Indian Prince.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Lady Ann Coventry, third daughter of the Earl of Coventry, has been married, at St. Peter's church, Eaton square, to Prince Lhoolep Singh, son of the late Maharajah of Lahore. The courtship of the prince and Lady Ann has been marked by considerable opposition upon the part of the lady's family, which was mainly overcome by the intervention of the Prince of Wales.

Sanguinily Sails For Mexico.

HAVANA, Jan. 5.—The Ward line steamer Saratoga, with General Julio Sanguinily on board, has sailed for Tampico, Mexico. He was closely watched while the steamer was in port. Much surprise is expressed in Spanish circles at the presence in this harbor of the former insurgent leader.

Detected and Sentenced to Hang.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Edward Clifford, a former West Shore railroad detective, has been sentenced in Jersey City to be hanged Feb. 16 next, for the murder of William Watson, a division superintendent of the West Shore road, on March 5, 1895, at Weehawken.

Man and Wife Murdered.

FAIRBURY, Neb., Jan. 5.—George Baker and wife, who live about three miles west of here, have been murdered. There is no clue.

TRAIN ROBBED IN CITY.

Gulf Road Express Raided in Kansas City.

THE EXPRESS MESSENGER BOUND.

Two Men Entered the Car and Overpowered Him—Looted the Local Safe and Escaped, All Within the Limits of the City.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 5.—The Port Arthur express on the Pittsburg, Kansas City and Gulf railroad has been robbed before it passed the city limits.

Two men, whom no one but Express Messenger Hyde seems to have seen, climbed into the express car as the train left the depot. They overpowered the messenger, bound and gagged him and rifled the car before the train came to a stop.

When the train slowed up at a railroad crossing known as Airline junction, near the northeastern limits of the city, they climbed out of the car and disappeared. Nothing was known of the robbery until a negro train porter entered the car and found the helpless express messenger.

They robbed the local safe and secured $200 or $300. The through safe was not touched.

This is the sixth crime of the kind in Kansas City within 15 months.

BRYAN HOME FROM MEXICO.

Friends Gave Him a Reception and Banquet at Lincoln.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 5.—William J. Bryan's homecoming from his Mexican trip last evening was the occasion of a more marked display of enthusiasm on the part of his political and social friends than has been shown since his return from Chicago, following his nomination for the presidency. It being the night of the complimentary banquet tendered him by the Bryan Traveling Men's club, a number of distinguished men, who participated in that function, were on hand at the station to meet him. To a correspondent, Mr. Bryan said he was not yet ready to express his impressions of Mexico.

It was nearly 10 o'clock when the banquet hall of the Lincoln hotel was thrown open. For an hour previous a reception was tendered to notable guests from abroad—Hon. George Fred Williams of Boston, Hon. David Overmeyer and Hon. J. H. Atwood of Kansas. Covers were laid for 200 guests, and over an hour was spent in a discussion of the menu. The principal address of the evening was by Mr. Overmeyer on the subject "The National Democrats." Among other speakers were George W. Ferge, Lincoln, Neb.; Governor Holcomb, Nebraska; G. M. Hitchcock, Omaha; Hon. W. H. Thompson, Grand Island; John H. Atwood, Kansas. Mr. Bryan responded to the toast "Our Guest."

PROMINENT MEN SUED.

A Massachusetts Man Claims a Big Gas Deal Was Crooked.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—Suit has been filed against the Boston, South Boston, Roxbury and Bay State of Massachusetts Gas companies, the Bay State Gas company of Delaware, the Bay State Gas company of New Jersey, Albert C. Burroughs of Boston, Henry H. Rogers and John G. Moore of New York, the New England Gas and Coke company, R. C. Prynne, Stephen Peabody, Henry J. Dimock, George C. Haven, A. N. Brady, Emerson McMillin, A. H. Paget of New York, William F. Elkins and William F. Elkins, Jr., of Philadelphia, William Flinn of Pittsburg, Henry M. Whitney, Richard Olney and Robert W. Lord of Boston.

The suit was entered by James E. Manning of Lynn. The bill, which is of great length, contains apparently a complete history of gas transactions since Nov. 1, 1896, most of which are referred to as being made by unauthorized officials and therefore illegal or fraudulent, especially the recent sale of the Brookline and Dorchester Gas companies to the New England Gas and Coke company.

NEW CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

One Will Be Reported to House Committee Today.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The special committee appointed by the recent conference of the members of the house of representatives opposed to existing civil service reform has agreed on a measure and will report it to the conference some time today. It makes a number of changes in the offices now in the classified service, and limits, in specific terms, the powers and duties of the civil service commission.

BUTTERWORTH DYING.

The Commissioner of Patents Very Low at Thomasville, Ga.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A special from Thomasville, Ga., says:

The condition of Patent Commissioner Butterworth has grown steadily worse since his attack Monday, and he is lying in his room at the Piney Woods hotel at the point of death. Physicians of this place and from New York are attending him, and all agree that he cannot live more than 36 hours, while his death is momentarily expected.

MAN WITH MANY WIVES.

Convicted of Bigamy, After Appearing in Dime Museum.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—David E. Bates, accused of having six wives more than the law allows, and who as a result of his arrest several months ago has had steady employment at the dime museums, has been convicted of bigamy, the first of the numerous cases against him. He was given a fine of $1,000 and an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary.

Upon the announcement of the verdict the examination of veniemen for a jury to hear the second charge against the prisoner was begun immediately. It is so proposed to press a charge of perjury against Bates based on admissions made by him on the witness stand. Three of the wives were present in court.

THE NEGRO WON OUT.

Kentucky Democratic Legislators Decide to Give them a Place.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 5.—The convening and organization of the two legislative houses were without incident of note. A failure to complete the organization of the lower branch precluded even the beginning of business. The governor also failed to transmit his message, which later came out in the afternoon paper.

The fight among the Democratic majority was over the determination of a majority to limit the candidates for one of the minor places to negro Democrats.

Some of the members fought this measure to a finish, but the negro won and was given the place.

The President Not Likely Now to Name Pax on.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—While no information of an official character is to be obtained at the white house regarding the successor to Colonel W. R. Morrison on the interstate commerce commission, the belief is general that the president has not yet decided whom he will appoint.

It was supposed for a time that Judge Paxson of Pennsylvania had been definitely determined upon, but the indications now are that the president will appoint a western man, probably a man from Illinois, if those interested can reach an agreement. It is reasonably certain now that no decision will be reached as to Colonel Morrison's successor for several days.

THE LONDON (N.Y.) FUROR.

Twenty-five Were Killed and 35 Injured. Building Was Unsafe.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 5.—The coroner's inquest into the City hall horror, when 25 persons were killed and 35 injured by the collapse of a floor during a political mass meeting, was begun. One of the bodies being viewed by the jury as a legal prerequisite to the inquiry, and the adjournment was made.

The whole point of the inquest will turn on the liability of the city to relatives and friends of the deceased. A number of local architects will testify that the building was unsafe and should have been condemned. This will be the basis of the claims that will be made against the city.

A CHINESE LOAN.

Removed That Negotiations Have Been Completed in England.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—There is good reason to believe the British government is reconsidering the question of assisting China to raise a loan. The Chinese proposals on the subject are urgently supported by the business men here who are interested in China.

The Evening News says it is reported in the city that the negotiations for a Chinese loan of £16,000,000 guaranteed by the British government are practically concluded.

HIT HIM ON THE HEAD

Assaulted.

IT HAPPENED AT THE WHARF

When the Queen City Was Tied In Last
Night—The Man Claims That Mate
Sweeney Struck Him With a Club as
He Passed.

William Scott, a colored roustabout,
employed on the steamer, Queen City,
was hit on the head about 10 o'clock,
last night, while the boat was tied in at the wharf. Scott alleges that Mate John
Sweeney was the offender.

The boat arrived at this port shortly
after 12 o'clock, and as the ice in
the river broke a rudder, the boat did
not leave the wharf until 3 o'clock this morning. During this time necessary repairs were made. Scott was walking forward to warm his hands, and when passing Sweeney the blow was struck.
Several companions of Scott saw the
action, it is said, but when questioned
as to the truthfulness of Scott's statement they refused to talk. Scott was bleeding terribly, and went up town to

and was making his first trip on the Queen City. He was seen by a reporter
this morning and said the action was
uncalled for as no words had passed
between them. When the boat passes
down this evening Scott will see the mate, and from what could be learned this morning some trouble will no doubt
occur.

Red Men In Office.

Red Men have elected the following
officers:

Prophet, Logan Zane; sachem, John
Brown; senior sagamore, John Cook;
junior sagamore, Elijah Eardley; chief
of record, Charles Reark; collector of
wampum, Sylvester Kinsey; keeper of
wampum, John Mase; guard of forest,
William Gibbs; guard of wigwam,
Charles Allison; trustees, C. J. Martin;
delegate to great council, Charles Reark;
alternate, C. J. Martin. Installation
will take place tomorrow evening.

Henry Houser Dead.

Henry Houser, age 44 years, died at his home at Fourth and Jackson streets
at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Congestion
of the lungs was the cause of his death.

Deceased was a widower, his wife
having died seven years ago. Two children, John, aged 18, and Paul, aged 15
years, survive him. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of his mother, 291 Fourth street,
Rev. O. S. Reed officiating. Interment
will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

To Begin In February.

Work upon the proposed improvements at Columbia park will, it is said,
be commenced some time during February.

Since the visit of J. K. Dillon, general
passenger agent of the Pennsylvania
company, to the city the promoters have
been more active than before, and it is
have become interested in the scheme
and it is their intention to push the
matter.

May Provide Power.

The officers of the light company are considering the advisability of running
the plant during the day and providing
all who desire it with power.

A canvass will be made in the near future, and if a sufficient number of customers can be found the plan will likely be adopted.

A Beautiful Fixture.

A beautiful fixture is that in the First National bank, and it was designed in detail, including the oxidized copper
grill work, by our home architect, A. W.
Scott, Foutt's building, as well as the
general remodeling of the banking quarters. He invites public inspection.

They Were Busy.

The report of the amount of baggage
sent out and received at the union station, in Pittsburg, for the month of December is completed, and gives the Cleveland and Pittsburg road as the fourth highest record. Over 40,000
pieces of baggage were handled.

Issued a Writ.

Squire Manley yesterday afternoon
issued a writ in aid of execution on the Pennsylvania railroad company in the case of B. D. Woods, versus Rufus Putnam, of East End. Putnam is a carpenter in the shops and Woods claims
he owes him $66.

A NATURAL WONDER.

The Tramp Red Sandstone Boulder of
the New Jersey Mountains.

Countless thousands of years ago vast stretches of glacial deposits came sliding across the state of New Jersey,
mounted the Palisades, pushed their
way across the Hudson river, scoured
over Manhattan Island and slid out into
the Atlantic ocean, whither they disintegrated and sank into the deep or perhaps glided on to the other shore.

their grinding stride, and today all
along the palisades the trap rocks and boulders are worn smooth where the
mountains of ice and sand passed over
them. In some rocks are deep scratches,
all pointing eastward and showing
which way the glacial deposits drifted.
There is the evidence, mute, but indis-
putable.

To the careful observer there are
numberless other evidences of the presence of glacial influences in the past,
but none is more convincing than the
tramp boulder that has finally settled
down in the woods in the heart of Englewood borough. There it sits, a towering mass of rock weighing perhaps 300 tons and resting upon three points
which in themselves find a purchase on
a flat rock that is part of and common
to the character of rock which composes
the palisades. But, strangely enough
and to the wonderment of geologists,
the tramp boulder is red sandstone from
the Jersey hills 25 miles inland, and
the pedestal is metamorphite or soft
granite.

Around this marvelous monument
have grown trees that may perhaps be
a century old, and they have completely hedged it in, while the rock itself has
stood where it stands today for thousands of years. On the pedestal or that
action of the elements can be seen the
deep ridges and scars made across its
flat surface by the great grinding pressure of the body of ice and sand that passed over it countless years ago when
New York was ice and snow clad and
the world was a desolate waste in a
state of chaos.

This tramp boulder has caused geologists much wonderment and is regarded today as one of the finest specimens
ever left in the wake of a glacier. It is equally astounding as though an explorer should find the hull of a steamboat in
the Sahara desert. The only way it could get there would be through some great convulsion that had landed it from the

BIRDS' EGGS.

The Reasons Why They Are Not All of
One Shape.

Why is there not a fixed form for all
eggs? We can see no reason in the anatomy of the bird, but we may often find
reasons for the shape of any particular
egg in its later history.

It is noticeable, for instance, that the
more spherical eggs, as those of owls,
trogons and the like, are usually laid
in holes in the earth, rocks or trees,
where they cannot fall out of the nest,
and that the eggs of the ordinary song
bird, which makes a well constructed
nest, are oval, while the slim, straight
sided, conoidal eggs, tapering sharply
to a point, belong to birds that construct
little or no nest—to the shore birds,
terns, guillemots and the like. Why?
Because these last drop them in small
clutches and with little or no preparation upon sand or rock, where, were
they spherical, they could only with difficulty be kept closer beneath the sitting bird, but conical objects will tend always to roll toward a center. An additional advantage is that eggs of the
latter shape will take up less space—
form a snugger package to be warmed.
In the case of guillemots the single egg
laid is especially flat sided and tapering,
and the species owes its perpetuation
largely to this circumstance, since,
were it not for the egg's toplike tendency to revolve about its own apex, the
chances are that it would be pushed off
the ledge of naked sea cliff where the careless or stupid bird leaves it.

This suggests a word in reference to
the popular fable that sitting birds carefully turn their eggs every day or often-
er in order to warm them equally. No
such thing is done, because unnecessary,
since, as we have seen, the germinal
part always rises to the top and places
itself nearest the influential warmth of
the mother's body.—Ernest Ingersoll Harper's Magazine.

His Reason.

"Why is it," they asked him, "that
you prefer gas to electric light?"

"In the case of electric light," he
said, looking at them in astonishment,
"it can usually be controlled by means
of a button or a spring on the wall with-
in easy reach."

They admitted that he spoke truly.

"That being so," he went on, "if
you had ever stood over a small but
pretty young woman who with upturn-
ed and anxious face was striving to reach the chandelier to light the gas
you never would have to ask me the
question you have seen fit to put."—

IN SALEM THIS YEAR

Will the Bar Association Be Entertained.

ONE WEEK FROM TOMORROW

Is the Date Assigned For the Annual Banquet—Invitations Have Not Yet Been Issued—This City Will Be Well Represented.

It is announced today that the Columbia County Bar association will this year be entertained by the attorneys of Salem. The date set for the banquet is January 13. Invitations have not yet been issued, but it is believed by local attorneys that they will be received here within a few days.

Since the custom was inaugurated two years ago in this city, when a gathering of representative attorneys observed the occasion at the Thompson house, Lisbon has entertained the bar, and Salem will not permit itself to be outdone. It is understood that the affair will be elaborate, and a large attendance is expected.

This city will be well represented, a number of attorneys having arranged to attend.

MRS. LEE'S FUNERAL.

Hundreds of Friends Attended the Services Last Night.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Helen Maple Lee were conducted at the residence in West Market street last evening. The house was filled with sorrowing friends, and many who were unable to gain admission stood on the veranda and in the street.

Almost hidden by roses and lilies, the body lay on a couch in the room where were assembled the members of the family and officers of the First Presbyterian church and other near friends.

The services were opened by the singing of "Nearer Home" by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Macrum, Miss Florence Everson and J. W. Stoddard, W. L. Thompson being the accompanist. Reverend George offered a fervent prayer, and then spoke in touching terms of comfort to the family. The quartet rendered "Asleep in Jesus," and Doctor Taggart spoke eloquently. He touched upon the need of human sympathy, and recalled those many virtues that had made the deceased dear to her friends. The gentleman closed with prayer. After the singing of "Lead Kindly Light" Reverend George pronounced the benediction, and the large assemblage of people were permitted to take leave of Mrs. Lee.

The remains were this morning taken to Pittsburg where they will be at the home of Mrs. Lee's parents in the East End until tomorrow when the interment will be made in Allegheny cemetery at 2 o'clock. A number of people from this city will attend.

Windsor Packing Plant Sold.

Charles L. Taylor, of Wheeling, was in the city on business today. Mr. Taylor last spring was talking to several people in this city in reference to moving the Windsor Packing company from Wheeling to this place, but after waiting on the people here for some time the deal was declared off. Mr. Taylor was seen by a reporter this morning, and said that the plant was sold yesterday to Wheeling parties. The price paid could not be learned.

Collecting Reports.

Sanitary Officer Burgess is busy today collecting the monthly reports of physicians.

The birth rate will be small, while the death rate will be larger than usual. The deaths during the month were principally among aged people who were suffering with chronic diseases.

Satisfied the Law.

George Miller, who was sent to the penitentiary from this county to serve 18 months for burglary, was released yesterday, his sentence having expired.

Ill in Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Norris, of East Liverpool, is ill with catarrhal fever at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Boswell, of this place.—Toronto Tribune.

Moved to Baltimore.

Deverne Coburn and wife, of Sixth street, have sold their effects and moved to Baltimore, where they will make their future home.

Potteries Resume.

The Murphy pottery will resume operations in full tomorrow. The Goodwin plant resumed work yesterday.

Miss Eliza Ruhamah Scidmore has an article on "The Wonderful Morning Glories of Japan" in The Century. Miss Scidmore says:

As a floral sensation the chrysanthemum may be said to have had its day, the carnation is going, going, and seekers after novelty among flower fanciers are sighing for a new flower to conquer. It is hardly known, even to foreign residents in Japan, that that land, which has given us so much of art and beauty, has lately revived the culture of its most remarkable flower, the asagao, our morning glory. For size, beauty, range of color and illimitable variety there attained this sunrise flower precedes all others until its cultivation has become a craze, which is likely to spread to other countries, and—who knows—perhaps there introduce the current Japanese custom of 5 o'clock in the morning teas and garden parties.

Asagao, the morning flower, is more especially Japan's own blossom than the chrysanthemum, which, like it, came from China as a primitive sort of weed, afterward to be evolved by Japanese art or magic into a floral wonder of a hundred varying forms.

We who know and grow the morning glory as a humble back yard vine on a string—a vine with leaves like those of the sweet potato and puny little pink or purple flowers—are as far in the floral darkness as the Chinese, who know it chiefly as a wild thing of fields and hedge rows, the vine of "the little trumpets" or the "dawn flower," that is entangled with briars and bushes for miles along the top of Peking's walls. The old poetry and the old art do not seem to be permeated with it, as in Japan, where the forms of vases, bowls and the designs and paintings of the greatest masters, repeat the graceful lines of vine and flower, and scores of famous poems celebrate the asagao in written characters as beautiful to the eye as is their sound to the ear.

The asagao was brought to Japan with the Buddhist religion, that particular cult of early rising. Scholars and priests who went over to study the new religion brought back the seeds of many Chinese plants. The tea plant came then, and Eisai brought the seeds of the sacred bo tree, and Tai Kwan, the Chinese priest at the Obaku temple in Uji, who may have introduced the flower to Japan, was one of the first to sing of the asagao in graceful outas, classic poems which scholarly brushes repeat today. "Asagao bloom and fade so quickly, only to prepare for the morrow's glory," is Tai Kwan's best known verse.

How Punch and Judy Came to England.

The heyday of the puppet show in England was during the last century. Long before then strolling showmen had exhibited "drolls" or "motions"—as the English puppets were known in the early days—to crowds of gaping rustics, but it was not until the time of Steele and Addison that the puppet show became a fashionable amusement, patronized by upper tendom.

Pulcinella came to London in 1666, when an Italian puppet player set up his booth at Charing Cross and paid a small rental to the overseers of St. Martin's parish. His name was at once Englished into Punchinello, which was soon to be completely Anglicized as Punch.—Harper's Magazine.

A Contingent Name.

The Syracuse Post says that a girl baby was recently brought to a clergyman of the city to be baptized. The latter asked the name of the baby.

"Dinah M.," the father responded. "But what does the 'M' stand for?" interrogated the minister.

"Well, I do not know yet. It all depends upon how she turns out."

"How she turns out? Why, I do not understand you," said the dominie.

"Oh, if she turns out nice and sweet and handy about the house, like her mother, I shall call her Dinah May, but if she has a fiery temper and displays a bombshell disposition, like mine, I shall call her Dinah Might."

At Her Mercy.

"So the telephone girl is taking her revenge, Whirly?"

"It's awful. Every time I ring up she connects me with three or four wrong numbers in succession, and then sweetly informs me that the number which I really want is 'busy now.'"—Detroit Free Press.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, JAN. 5.

GETTING down to business seems to be an expression the legislature does not now understand.

SALEM silverites will celebrate Jackson day with an entertainment, charging an admission of 10 cents. A 10 cent show, as it were.

BEFORE you believe all you read in the Democratic press of wage reductions since the Dingley bill became a law, it is good policy to investigate. It might not be all true.

THERE are thousands of people in Liverpool who never saw Mark Hanna, but their sympathies are with him because they know him as the chairman of the National Republican committee, who carried the flag of the party to victory, and won the most important election in the history of Republicanism.

THE PARTY'S PROMISE.

The promise of a political party should be as binding as the promise of an individual. When the Toledo convention decided that the program should be the re-election of Governor Bushnell and the election of a legislature that would send Mr. Hanna to the senate, the people accepted it in good faith and supported the ticket. When the election resulted in Republican victory the rank and file of the party expected that program to be carried out. They still expect it, nor will they be satisfied until Mr. Hanna has been chosen.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Governor Bushnell touches a popular chord when he recommends in his message to the legislature the enactment of a measure that will place primary elections under the control of regularly authorized election boards. After suffering for many years because of the system now in use, Ohio is beginning to realize that the best method of killing the political boss is to strike through the primary election. If the legislature can only be brought to see the matter in that light there are better times in store for the people of this state who believe corruption in politics to be among the nation's greatest dangers.

HONOR AND GOOD FAITH.

Honor, probity, truth and fair play demand that Marcus A. Hanna shall receive the senatorial position to which he aspires. The late battle in Ohio was fought on this foundation, and a grand Republican victory was the result. The rank and file of the Republican party declared, in unmistakable tones, for Hanna, and the delegates to Columbus are guilty of a complete breach of good faith and defiance of the wishes of their constituents when they attempt to defeat Marcus A. Hanna. The man who heads the defection from his party, and acts in open opposition to the Republican masses of the Buckeye State, may be termed, by some, a keen, far-seeing and brilliant politician; but the man of truth and a right sense of honor will declare such a politician a traitor and a deserter, absolutely unfit to occupy the position of a leader, and best fitted for the company of falsifiers and pothouse political tricksters. Such a man is an unsafe man, even to his co-workers in deceit and trickery, as he has his price and can be bought and sold at the command of the highest bidder. From such so-called brilliant and brainy politicians may the country at large be delivered. The only feature they deserve is political oblivion and the execration of all men of honor.

Not So Heavy.

Holiday business at the postoffice is over, and Postmaster Miskall and his force have an opportunity to look around them. The mails sent out today are lighter than they have been for some time.

IT'S HOT IN COLUMBUS

Political History Is Being Rapidly Made.

REVIEW OF THE SITUATION

Blacque Wilson Tells News Review Readers All About the Big Battle Now Being Fought at the Capitol, and Has a Word About the Leaders.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—[Special]—One of the most sensational and remarkable sessions of any legislature ever held in Ohio was that which marked the opening of the seventy-third general assembly on Monday. Political history was made on that day, and the scenes enacted will not soon be forgotten by those who participated in them. The occasion was also very spectacular from a visitor's point of view. On that occasion a Democratic minority came into a Republican assembly and, with the aid of a handful of bolters from the Republican ranks, organized both branches. Although the Republicans had a good majority in the house and a tie in the senate, their regular slate was smashed to a thousand bits and Fred Blankner was the only man saved from the wreck. "Col. Fred" has been about the state house so long that he is above party considerations, and he was returned to his old place as third assistant sergeant at arms. Otherwise the officers and employees of the assembly are all new men, from clerks to pages.

In the senate the Democrats captured the organization entire, this being made possible by the absence of Senator Burke, of Cleveland, who was a part of the combine with the Democrats. Senator Thaddeus E. Cromley, of Pickaway county, was elected president pro tem, and the Democrats took to themselves every office from chief clerk down. Senator Voight, of Hamilton county, was elected on a Democratic fusion ticket, and it was expected that he would vote with the Democrats on the organization. When the Democrats demanded all the places and refused to allow the Republicans anything, the senator refused to enter into their plans, but they were successful without him.

Besides looking after the presiding officer's chair, in the absence of Lieutenant Governor Jones, it is expected that Senator Cromley will act as the Democratic leader during the session. The leadership of the Republican side is not so well defined, but it lies between Senators Sullivan, Alexander and Garfield.

The greatest sensation of the organization occurred in the house, where the Republicans had what should have been a working majority, that body being composed of 52 Republicans and 47 Democrats. Nine of these Republicans went over to the Democrats and so captured the organization. Hon. Alexander Boxwell, of Warren county, was the regular Republican candidate for speaker, and John L. Means for speaker pro tem. When the first vote was taken the tension was intense. When the roll call was finished Mr. Boxwell had only 53 votes and Harry O. Mason, of Cuyahoga, the candidate of the combine, had 56. The same vote elected John E. Griffith, of Union, speaker pro tem. The Democrats voted solidly for these men, and for a slate that included every officer of the house. There was great excitement over the first vote and cheers and hisses were mingled with equal force. The intense feeling was made manifest by Mr. Boxwell, who refused to shake hands with his successful opponent, and took occasion to call the bolters "traitors" when he made a speech seconding the nomination of Means.

The members who formed the combination with the Democrats were Harry O. Mason, Cuyahoga; M. F. Bramley, Cuyahoga; John E. Griffith, Union; John P. Jones, Stark; James Joyce, Guernsey; James Manuel, Montgomery; J. C. Otis, Hamilton; D. O. Rutan, Carroll; W. A. Scott, Fulton. These men hold the balance of power, and if they stick to the compact they have made they will be able to do just about as they please during this session. What their political future will be and the excuses they will make to their Republican constituency is another story.

From the developments of the first two days of the legislature, it is plain that there will be plenty of excitement during the session, and there are rumors of sensations that nobody dreamed of a few weeks ago. The Democrats intend to take every advantage of the position in which they find themselves, and already they are dreaming of great things.

Up in the halls of the state house the members are getting themselves settled and business will soon be running on smoothly. Already some bills have been introduced, but little legislation will be enacted for a week or two; or until the committees are appointed and get down to work.

Have You Inspected the First National Bank?

The Splendid Woodwork and Elegant Grill Work Are the Subject of the Very Warmest Commendation at the Hands of Experts and Judges.

Do you desire to inspect beautiful wood and grill work, turned out in the very finest style of the art, reflecting credit upon the manufacturer and upon the patron or customer making use thereof? If you do, pay a visit to the First National bank of East Liverpool, where the Sandusky Furniture company have placed in position superb work in their line, making the large reception and business room of the bank a thing of beauty and artistic delight.

The Sandusky Furniture company make a specialty of bank fixtures, keeping abreast with the business demands of the country, and the present fitting of the First National is in accord with the very latest designs and patterns in wood and grill work. The wood work is composed of quarter sawed white oak, with fine antique high grade finish, and presents a very handsome appearance. The grided work and wicker work are simply superb and must be seen to be fully appreciated, while the light is reflected from French plate glass, chipped and bevel edged, the whole presenting an appearance which cannot fail in pleasing those who come in contact therewith.

Grilled wicker work of bronzed metal divides the receiving and paying tellers' office from the main business department, this latter department being furnished with the very latest and best approved desks and other necessary features. This department contains, just in the rear, the splendid and massive vault and fire and burglar proof safe.

When you step into the outer office of the bank, you will find comfortable and cosy seats, the product of the Sandusky Furniture Company, these seats making your waiting moments, in case of rush of business, much easier than if compelled to stand while waiting your turn.

If you desire to see the directors or officials on important business of a private nature, you will make your wants known to the cashier, who will direct you to the rear apartment and pass you to a door which, as you approach it, will open automatically and admit you to the inner or private business office. In a word, the furnishment is complete in every detail, and demonstrates the fact that the Sandusky Furniture Company understand their business to a nicety and that work entrusted to their care is in safe and trustworthy hands.

The company makes a specialty of store, office and bank fixtures, interior finish, stair work and turning, and, judging by the work just completed at the First National bank, they fully deserve the splendid reputation they have acquired in the work put upon the market.

The Man Was Twice Convicted—One Divorce Granted—Wellsville Case Appealed—Settled a Damage Action—Edward Skelly Disposed of.

LISBON, Jan. 5.—[Special]—Hudson B. Kinney, of Liverpool, was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary at hard labor for the crime against Miss Ada Everson for which he was twice convicted. The arguments in the motion for a new trial were heard last evening. The prisoner was given the minimum sentence for the crime which is, in the language of Judge Taylor, "the lowest and most revolting mentioned in the statutes."

Judge Taylor granted Samuel Galbreath a divorce from Amanda Galbreath, and gave to her $300 alimony and a quit claim deed for the property owned by her prior to their marriage. The case was heard two weeks ago. The parties are from Butler township.

Probate court has authorized the settlement of the damage claim in the John Halverstadt estate against the Pennsylvania company. The company agrees to pay the widow $400. Two years ago Halverstadt was killed while crossing the Fort Wayne track at Columbiana. A damage action has never been filed.

The People's Oil company has appealed the case in which A. C. Johnson recently got judgment in a Wellsville court for $300. A year ago Johnson parted with his oil plant with the understanding that he could obtain it again any time he paid $207. He offered the amount, but the company refused to deliver the outfit.

Edward Skelly, of Leetonia, was given two years in the penitentiary by Judge Smith this morning for the assault on W. D. McKeefrey, of that place.

Diamonds Made by Pressure.

Another method of producing diamonds has been devised by Dr. Majorana. Carbon, heated in the electric arc, is submitted to a pressure of 5,000 atmospheres created by the action of an explosive compound on a small piston, leaving a mass of graphite and amorphous carbon with minute crystals that have the properties of a diamond. Is Now Being Made In the Pottery Matter.

NOT QUITE ENOUGH COLLECTED

To Secure the Plant, but the Soliciting Committee Has Not Given Up—News of the Shops—West End and Liverpool Men Fought—Wellsville Happenings.

The gentlemen who should know something of the pottery project will not say a word about it, but the story is whispered around that the soliciting committees have not been as successful as was anticipated.

There have been a number of board meetings, but what transpired is not given to the public. The amount of money pledged is not sufficient to insure the erection of the plant, but only a few thousands are required to make up the bonus. The committee, it is understood, complains because many people who can, have not contributed a cent toward the project, and the money has, in the main, been subscribed by people who desire to have Wellsville grow, but are not the wealthiest in town.

Another effort will be made to bring these people into line.

O. V. Shoub is in Irondale on business today.

The News of Wellsville.

The first big fight in several weeks occurred on Third street last evening. The names of the parties could not be learned, but it was found that one was from East Liverpool and the other from the West End. No arrests were made.

While a party of little folks were playing on the ice yesterday, near the upper bridge, the ice broke, and one little fellow fell through. He was quickly helped out, but was more frightened than hurt.

Miss Dee Andrews will entertain the Silent Sisters, next week.

There will likely be a special meeting of council soon to take further action on the switch matter.

H. O. McElvane, night yardmaster, is very ill, caused by a bad cold.

It was rumored around town today that John Catlett will be a candidate for mayor next spring. There are a number of others, it is said, who would also like to have the position.

The body of F. P. Wilhelm, who was killed yesterday in the Conway yards, was brought home last night and taken to his home on Fourteenth street. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m.

Mr. Wilhelm was well known and highly esteemed, and the accident was particularly a sad one, as he was to have been promoted to conductor in a short time. He leaves a wife and two children.

A TRIAL IN TRENTON

BEFORE SHE GETS HER PROPERTY

Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis Is Preparing to Defend Her Position—A Number of Depositions Have Been Taken In This City, and a Warm Contest Is Expected.

Mrs. Phoebe Ellis, whose husband, Edward Ellis, died recently in Trenton, will contest the claim of Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis for the property he left, as long as the courts will allow it.

When the Trenton claimant appeared Mrs. Ellis determined to push the case, and her attorneys have since been taking depositions which will be used to show that she is the legal wife. A number of these witnesses reside in this city, and the documents have already been sent to Trenton. Mrs. Ellis will go to that place next Saturday. The case will be heard Jan. 14.

The story is told here that Mrs. Elizabeth Ellis, of Trenton, will put forward her strongest claim for the property, and some sensational developments are expected.

On the River.

The river is falling and no rise of considerable volume is now expected from the melting of the snow. Almost all the ice now in the upper rivers is floating out, and within a few days the stream will be clear.

The marks at the wharf today showed 6.6 feet and stationary.

The Queen City is due down tonight, and the Ben Hur up.

For Sale.

The stock and fixtures, show cases etc., etc., of W. H. Wells, Sixth street, Ikirt building; everything ready for the purchaser to start in business. Also a complete ice cream outfit, including water motor. Will sell entire, or to suit purchaser. Inquire of

W. A. WEAVER,
199 and 201 Washington street,
East Liverpool.

Watching Columbus.

A great many people in this place are interested in the outcome of the battle now being fought in Columbus. The news is eagerly read, and when something of more than ordinary interest comes from the capital it is at once handed around.

So far as could be learned there has been no betting on the result.

Preparing For Trade.

All the modelers of the city are rushed with work, almost every pottery in town having decided to put something new on the market.

It is said that the new shapes are better than ever, and the local factories will have for the spring trade the best line of goods ever sent out from the city.

Without a Janitor.

No arrests were made during the night and everything about police court this morning was quiet.

City hall is now without a janitor as the former one, Fred Wolf was released, yesterday afternoon. Speculation is now being made as to who will be the next one to hold down the job.

Delayed by a Kiln.

The new kiln at the Sebring plant in Second street will be finished this week and the kiln hands in the biscuit department will then be able to start work. Had it not been for the erection of the new kiln, this department would have started work some time ago.

LESS THAN COST.

Housekeepers can get old papers, suitable for placing under carpets or trimming shelves, at much less than cost of material by calling at the News Review office.

Slippery Streets.

The streets were so slippery this morning that many venturesome ones who continued the custom of walking on sidewalks regretted it. The middle of the road was the popular place for walking.

Still Slow.

Business at the freight depot is still slow and the outlook for any immediate rush is not promising. The usual number of cars were sent out from the outbound platform.

FRANKLIN'S GRAVE.

Reasons Given For Allowing It to Remain In Its Present Condition.

Benjamin Franklin's grave is in a neglected condition. No appropriate stone rises over it, the ground round about it is uncared for, and the tomb of the great scholar and statesman is as obscure as that of a man whose name and fame were no part of the glory of his country.

His grave is destitute even of a headstone. It is covered by an old fashioned marble slab which was placed there 100 years ago and is now worn and discolored by age.

Nothing has been done to it since Franklin was buried there, and even the modest arrangements of the grave are not kept in the perfect condition that is expected of a great man's tomb. The earth on all sides is bare of grass, the common thatching of the commonest grave, and an air of desolation is about the whole place.

The sexton said that the descendants of Franklin would not do anything to repair the grave; neither would they allow anybody else to do anything. Every day he has received offers of subscriptions from visitors, who are distressed by the forlorn appearance of Franklin's resting place and who would like to see it improved. In reply he says, as he has been instructed, that Franklin wished it so, "being a plain man averse to display of any kind." Not long ago, at his own expense, he had the fading inscription recut, or else even the only distinguishing mark, the name, would be gone.

If he had not done so, the last resting place of the greatest man, outside of Washington, in American history would have been forgotten and unknown. Who is responsible for this condition of affairs? Not the living relatives of Franklin. The responsibility rests with the American people, to whom the man belongs. They should see to it in the future that what little is there to mark the grave is kept in better order than it has been in the past.

Before he died Franklin provided for his own gravestone and instructed a stonecutter of his acquaintance in every detail, even to the inscription which was to be placed upon it. He desired to be buried beside his wife, who had died some years before, and a common slab was to be placed over them both. The inscription arranged as he ordered it reads:

and DEBORAH 1790

Everything was done as he desired, and the work was paid for out of his estate and stands today the same as when he died.—Philadelphia Times.

Wobbled When He Came to Possum.

Old Uncle Claybrook is a very religious old dorky and holds converse with his Maker twenty times a day or oftener. His habit is to pray and then turn off into what appears to be a one sided conversation with the Lord, but it is evident that there is another party to it as far as he is concerned. To hear him reminds one very much of a telephone conversation.

The other day he was going through his customary devotions, and when he got to the point of expressing thankfulness for the many blessings of life he broke off into a recounting of them, says Cicero T. Sutton of the Owensboro Inquirer. "An den, dar's possum, Lord—how'd you ever think of makin possum? Possum jes' beats all. You jes' couldn't beat it ef you tried ag'in. Possum, he, he! Yes, dar's watahmillion. I hadn't thought of dat. Hit's jes' great. You couldn't beat hit neither, could you, Lord? Now, hon'es, couldn't you jes' fix it so dey bote git ripe at oncet? Ef you was to do dat, you mought go out an shet de do'. Dey wouldn't be no mo' sin an no mo' sorrow an no mo' tribelation. Jes' try hit oncet, Lord, an jes' see whut a diffunce hit would make."

And then "old uncle" began to hum a quaint negro camp meeting tune and stopped to look at a piece of liver in a butcher's stall as the best substitute for his loved possum or as best suited to the small piece of money which represented his total movable wealth.

Rugs and Moving.

A certain man who owns a row of dwelling houses over in the northwest quarter of the town has learned wisdom by bitter experience. A friend of mine went to him not long ago to rent one of the houses.

"Do you lease it by the month or by the year?" she inquired.

"No," answered my friend; "we have rugs."

"You'll have to sign a year's lease then," the landlord made reply, smiling craftily. "If you bought carpets and had them fitted to the floors, I know you'd stay in the house as long as you could, but these rugs are too easily adjusted to any sized room. You'll have to sign a year's lease if you have rugs. There are seven houses in my row, and six of them haven't kept a tenant longer than two years at a time for the last five years. The seventh house—well, the people in it had carpets made and laid for it five years ago, and they haven't thought of moving. Carpets, I'll rent

by the month, rugs, a year's lease."—Washington Post.

A doctor on tour through the highlands came upon a fair sized village where there was no brother practitioner. Surprised at this and anxious to learn how the people got on without one, he took the first opportunity to inquire.

"A doctor!" said the old woman whom he accosted. "We need nae doctor."

"And what do you do for medicine in the case of illness?" pursued the man of medicine.

"We need nae medicine either. We jist keep whusky for the man an tar for the sheep," replied the old woman.

The doctor admitted that a glass of whisky might be good enough in some cases, but not always.

Did She Ever Live In Boston?

A young lady of Buffalo who wanted something that would keep her stockings up where they belonged thus addressed the terror stricken young store clerk:

"It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendages capable of being contracted and expanded by means of oscillating burnished steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Alaska diamonds and which are utilized for keeping in position the habiliment of the lower extremities which innate delicacy forbids me to mention."—Buffalo (W.) Work was again started this morning on the new water tank at the light plant. The work has been delayed some time on account of the bad weather.

T. Mills Bennett, who was severely burned at the North Side chapel last week, suffered a great deal yesterday, but is somewhat improved today.

The report, circulated this morning to the effect that a strike was on at the Thompson pottery among the kilnhands, is denied at the office of the plant.

A number of crockery salesmen who have been spending the holidays in this city are preparing for the road. By the middle of next week all will be at work.

Trades council at their meeting this evening, will be asked to adopt resolutions endorsing the anti scalping bill, and it will probably cause some discussion. There is other important business to discuss.

ENLARGED LYMPH GLANDS.

What the Lumps Mean and How They Should Be Treated.

"What are these lumps in my baby's neck?" is a question often asked the doctor.

The system of lymph glands and tubes covers the entire body. If it were exposed to view, it would have the appearance of meshwork. Lymph ducts lead from the skin, from the mucous membrane, and from bone to lymph bodies which are further connected with one another by the same means.

At any point where there is an inflammation, a sore, a breaking of the skin or mucous surface, there will be found open mouths of lymph ducts into which waste matter is liable to enter. This waste matter sets up an irritation and an enlargement of the lymph bodies to which it finds its way. It will now be easily understood how such an enlargement or inflammation of the lymph bodies always points to a state of inflammation at some point, perhaps at a considerable distance from the lumps themselves. Thus a felon on the finger causes enlarged glands to appear in the armpit.

Lumps in the neck may sometimes be plainly traced to eczema of the scalp. Sometimes the mouth is the seat of the trouble. Large and inflamed tonsils may be present, or the teeth may be decaying.

Enlarged lymph bodies just behind the angle of the jaw are sometimes significant of catarrh of the nose and the adjacent portion of the throat.

The existence of enlarged lymph bodies for a few days, or sometimes for a longer interval, cannot be said to be in itself dangerous. The case is different when lumps exist for several weeks or longer. They become changed in character after this time and begin to break down and form purulent matter. This stage, too, is more difficult to cure, as surrounding tissue may become affected. The skin over the glands is involved and becomes part of the large, soft, red or purplish swelling, now called an abscess, which either breaks or is lanced by the surgeon.

These enlargements may become invaded by the tubercle bacilli, from which consumption of the lungs or a general consumption may develop.

During the course of an infectious disease, when the glands in the neck sometimes become enlarged, the care of the throat must not be neglected. The use of an antiseptic solution on the affected parts will often produce an immediate good result.—Youth's Companion.

About Lightning Rods.

Rods, although they may not entirely protect a building, may preserve it from being seriously damaged. The Jefferson physical laboratory of Harvard university is protected in the following manner: Each of the chimneys is provided with rods which are connected with conductors running along the eaves. From the corners of the roof conductors are led to the ground and are connected underground with a conductor which entirely surrounds the building and which is connected to a permanent water supply at least ten feet below the surface of the ground. Iron pipes are driven to reach this water supply. This is as near an approach to a cage as circumstances would permit.

A trolley car has a lightning rod in its trolley, which is connected through its motor with the rails and the ground. It is not beyond possibility, however, that a discharge descending the trolley arm should refuse to go through the motor and should seek a quicker oscillating path through the car. This is not likely to happen often, for the network of the trolley wire and the telegraph lines of a town or city, together with the electric light wires, separate and divert into many channels the electrical disturbance. The great increase of wires in our cities serves to protect from great damage by lightning, for many paths are offered to the discharges, which are thus broken up into more or less harmless sparks.—Professor John Trowbridge in Chautauquan.

Poison Ivy.

Just what it is that induces poison ivy to play its injurious pranks on some people at some times and not at others is still a profound mystery. One thing is certain—the number of people susceptible to the poisoning influence must be extremely few, from the fact that in the vicinity of Philadelphia the highways and byways are overrun with the plant to an enormous extent. It is frequently impossible for people to go by without brushing against it, and if it is the vapor or some exudation from the plant which causes the trouble thousands of persons must be under the influence to every one who suffers from it. The writer of this paragraph knows of a tract of land on which the plant grows profusely and on which many scores of laborers are employed. These laborers are frequently set to weeding and pulling out the plant by the naked hand, and, so far as the writer knows, none of these men was ever poisoned by it. The cattle eat it greedily whenever they get an opportunity. It seems to have no injurious influence on them.

ARBITRATION DISCREDITED.

Argentine Minister in Spain Makes Decision Against United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The cause of arbitration in the settlement of claims between nations has received a severe check in the award by the arbitrator in the case of Oberlander and Messenger, who claimed $50,000 and $25,000 respectively for ill-treatment by the Mexican authorities. The arbitrator was the Argentine minister at Madrid, Senor Quesada, and his decision was in favor of the Mexican government and against the American claimants.

The discouraging feature of the decision is that in making the decision the arbitrator apparently overlooked every point of law, according to the English standards, and decided the case with reference to his sympathies. It is said that a more extraordinary opinion than this from a legal point of view was never seen at the state department. Oberlander was a deputy sheriff in California and he was kidnapped and taken across the border by Mexican officers. Mrs. Messenger, in whose house he had taken refuge, was ill-treated.

When it came to rendering his decision, the arbitrator, it is said, ignored the facts and reasoned that because the United States government had not recognized the rights of the Chinese government to indemnity for the killing of Chinese at Rock Springs, Wyo., while insisting upon indemnity for losses sustained by American missionaries in China, we could not expect to have an indemnity awarded our citizens in such cases as this. This peculiar lack of legal perceptions is said, at the department, to be almost without a parallel in the history of arbitration, and has undoubtedly done much to prevent the submission of other claims to arbitration, unless it can first be known that the arbitrator is familiar with the principles of common law, according to the English standards.

MANY TO BE REDUCED.

Cotton Operatives of Maine to Receive Less Wages.

LEWISTON, Me., Jan. 5.—The reduction in the wages of the employees of the cotton mills of Lewiston, which goes into effect Jan. 17, will amount to from 10 to 11.9 per cent, and the other mills in Maine, as far as is known, will adopt either one or the other of these rates.

The Farwell mills at Lisbon, the Edwards of Augusta, the Cabot of Brunswick, the Lockwood of Waterville, the Gardiner mills and the Laconia and Pepperell mills of Biddeford have also joined the general movement and will be followed by the big York corporation of Saco.

It is estimated that nearly 20,000 operatives will be effected in this state. It is thought there will be no strike in Lewiston or Auburn, but it is difficult to tell what the Biddeford operatives will do. The Lewiston and Auburn mills employ about 6,000 persons and the reduction in their pay will amount to about $18,000 a month.

Ketchum Will Be Probated.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Judge Kohlssaat has admitted the will of John B. Ketchum to record. The lawyers for the Ketchum heirs announced that they did not desire to contest the question of the admission of the will to probate, but they will contest in the circuit court.

French Wheelmen's Complaint.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—Rivierre, the French wheelman, has written to a cycling paper that his American competitors in the six days' race at Madison Square garden had resorted to every foul trick to prevent the Frenchman from finishing. A New York dispatch says the managers of the race deny his statements.

Baseball Magnate Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Charles H. Byrne, who was president of the Brooklyn Baseball club, has died at his residence in this city.

Rockefeller Gives $500,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—A gift of $200,000 has been made by John D. Rockefeller to enable Chicago university to swell its income for the year beginning July 1, 1908, to $725,000, the sum needed to carry out its work as planned.

Sugar Arrives From Cuba.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The steamer Vigilance has arrived from Havana, bringing 1,500 bags, 94,000 pounds, of sugar. This is the first shipment of sugar from Cuba in many months.

Evans to Ask Aid of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Pension Commissioner Evans has in preparation a circular letter to members of congress asking their co-operation in the order re-entirely issued prohibiting the further consideration of pension claims until one year has elapsed from the date of last action. This step was necessary because of the frequent calls of congressmen for a statement showing status of claims, which congested the work of the bureau.

Hungarian Statesmen Fight Duels.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 5.—Two duels with swords were fought here, arising out of insults exchanged during the recent debates in the lower house of the Hungarian parliament. Count Stefan Tisza wounded Herr Ludwig Olay and Herr Edmund Gajary wounded Herr Stefan hayovsky. In both cases the wounds are serious. Herren Tisza and Gajary received flesh wounds.

Bills to Benefit Workers.

ALBANY, Jan. 5.—Assemblyman Groen of New York will introduce a bill intended, he says, to put a stop to "government by injunction." Another bill to be introduced modifies the law known as "anti-conspiracy" by permitting the peaceable assembling of workmen to induce a workman to leave his employment.

Standard Oil Election.

Island Belongs to France.

PARIS, Jan. 5.—The Liberte asserts that Clipperton island, over which the Mexican flag is reported to have been hoisted by a party of marines from the gunboat Democrita, after the Stars and Stripes had been hauled down in spite of the protest of the Americans there, really belongs to France.

She Herself on Fire.

TROY, Jan. 5.—Miss May Thompson, aged 25 years, of Dallas, who since last August has been visiting at the residence of Mr. E. Thompson, attempted suicide by setting fire to her clothing after saturating her hair and clothes with kerosene oil. She will die.

Brush Boys St. Louis Club.

St. Louis, Jan. 5.—Formal transfer of St. Louis Browns has been made to Mr. John T. Brush, owner of the Cincinnati club. Messrs. A. C. Spaulding, C. C. Spink and A. C. Anson are said to be also interested with Mr. Brush in the purchase of the Browns.
